Standing proud, Renee Barnhardt leads the Warrior Marching Band to capture top honors at home and at away competitions.

WESTERN SIZZLIN

Students find the air-conditioned library an attractive place to be on the hottest days.

Coach Tolley has his own way of combating the heat; a coach's shirt and jersey shorts.

Advanced P.E. students find that playing hockey is easier after shedding some clothing.

Relief from the heat is found in the shade of D-Building.

90 TO 100 DEGREES

Outdoor lunches are a great way to catch up on gossip, eat lunch and work on a suntan.

Resting on the school patio furniture can become habit-forming.

After lunch, there is always time for small-talk.

Are they skipping class or becoming new friends?

"We've got spirit! How about you?"

After taking his oath of office, Brad Lang is ready to take on his new duty of president of the student body.

The band started off by winning a one in their competition in the annual band competition at Bristol.

That first assembly march has become a reality for the seniors.

In the city-county competition, the cheerleaders won first place honors.

OFF TO A GUTSY START

Grazing on the fresh green grass, the horse and colt present a peaceful picture.

A crowded cafeteria and a time limit for lunch created a problem for hungry warriors at the beginning of school.

Good always seemed to come out of everything the football team attempted, even when things were looking down.

Looking forward to their installation the officers and student council representatives waited patiently for their turn.

Adding rhythm to the pep rally, the band also succeeds in giving a good show.

A NIGHT WHEN DREAMS BECOME REALITIES

In preparation for, crowning the Queen, Amy Oakley and Mr. Primm receive the crown from John Harris and Joy Goodman respectively.

Cheerleaders pepped up the crowds as they rode on Bob Rose's spirit wagon during the festivities.

Modern flagettes depict "the step" of the fifties during the festivities.

The cherished position of Homecoming Queen was bestowed upon Rhonda Madren, as Doug Walker smiled approvingly.

The sexy legs and interesting figure of Timmy Hensley, appealed to the audience at Homecoming.

Homecoming! Thoughts of cold weather, a crowded stadium, and the BIG game are the first things that pop up in our heads when we think back to that special night. A night when dreams became realities. A highlight of the night was our VICTORY over the other team. This reality became obvious by half-time when our team was leading by a small margin. By the end of the game, our reality became the other team's nightmare as our determined football players held onto both the ball and the lead.

As darkness crept up and the air began to nip at our noses, half-time ignited the festivities. The band members, dressed in the style of the fifties, cheered the crowd by presenting the theme, "Happy Days are Here Again." The prevalent thought on all minds was "Who will win the Homecoming crown?" The band played as the four contestants ambled onto the field with their nervous escorts. Time seemed to stand still as Rene Saunders, Rhonda Madren, Sandra Liggins, and Janette Carnell waited anxiously for the decision. Don Isley's voice came through like thunder as he announced the winner, RHONDA MADREN. Another dream had become a reality as Rhonda Madren was crowned by Amy Oakley. Receiving a standing ovation, Rhonda Madren wore the coveted crown of Homecoming Queen.

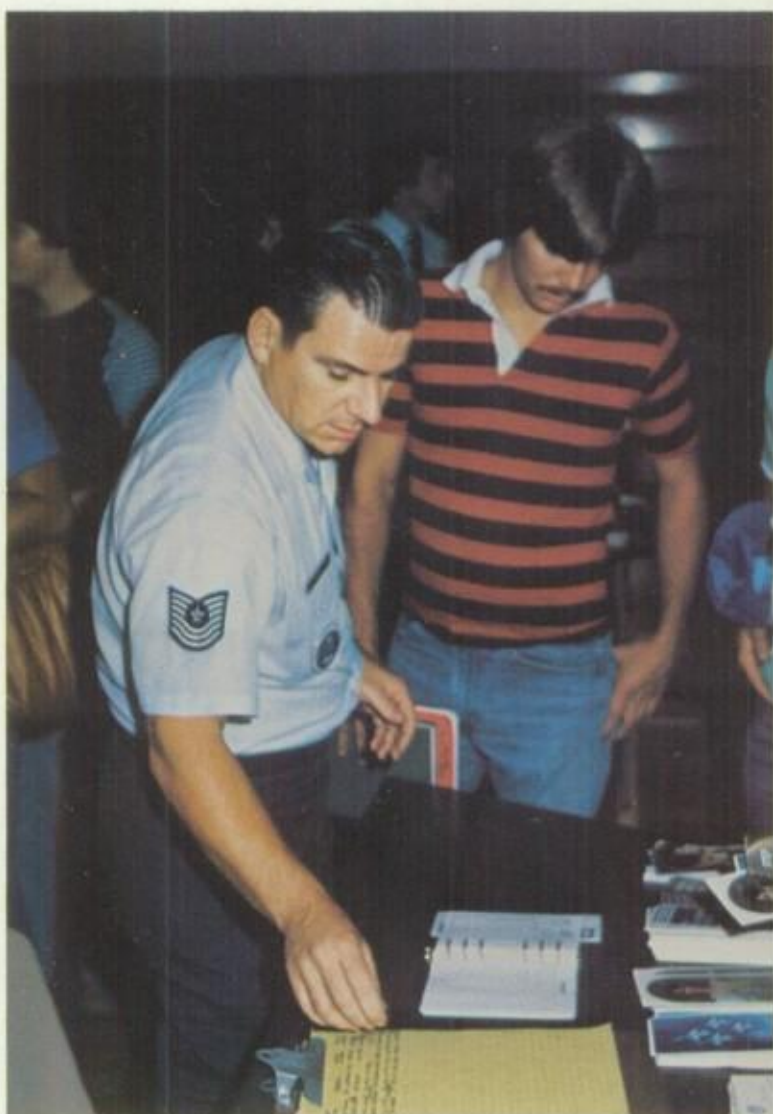

As they made their way to a table of information from the college of their choice, crowds of interested students were greeted by smiling representatives.

A number of students came with specific colleges picked out; others moved from one table to another hoping to find the college that would offer the best educational program. There were so many different choices that many walked around with blank expressions as if in a daze. Should they go to a college, university, technical institute, or the Armed Forces?

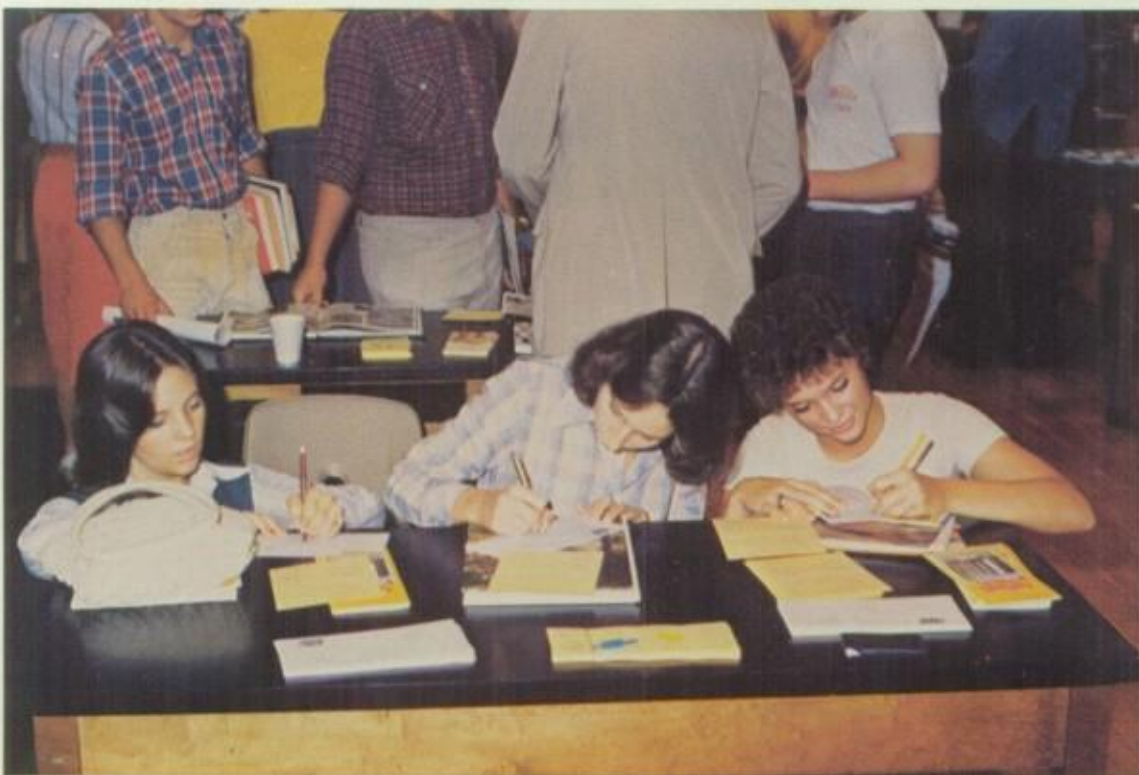

Groups of students discussed the procedure for applying to college and the possibility of being accepted. Yet, some spoke of the cute representative from Hardbarger and their collection of souvenir frisbees and stickers.

Questioning a representative, Lisa Bruner, Terri Neely, Patti Whitesell, Amy Watson, and Lois Truitt listen intently.

Reaching for his clipboard, a representative from the Armed Forces takes great pride in helping an interested student.

EDUCATION LATER?

Filling out information forms, Jeanne Oliver, Patsy Griswold, and Angie Taylor consider the programs Pfeiffer College offers.

Great consideration is taken as Denise Hopkins, Pam Aldridge, Cindy Melton, and Karen Robertson look over their college brochures.

EDUCATION NOW!

Direct attention in class is a MUST when learning French.

Following the discovery of a typing error, an upset student frowns at her mistake.

Tax tables tend to bring about confusion in survival class.

Concentrating on their artwork, the students attempt to create great master pieces.

Giving a demonstration in furniture making, Chris Roberts shows his techniques to others.

The dream of being on Broadway almost became a reality for eleven young women as they vied for the title of Miss Western. This is an annual event sponsored by the Student Council where talented young ladies have an opportunity of sharing their talent with their fellow students.

Who would ever believe that the poised young lady on stage had just been through the turmoil of broken zippers, misplaced music, streaked make-up and other last minute misgivings. In spite of all the nervousness and tension, the ladies managed to remain calm and make a lasting impression on the audience and judges. Our school was well represented by each contestant and we feel sure our new queen, Jeanette Carnell will continue to do a good job.

The winners of the Miss Western pageant were: Gina Rumbley, Miss Congeniality; Jeanette Carnell, Miss Western; Tracy Holt, first runner-up; Phyllis Bowman, second runner-up.

After receiving a warm welcome from the student body, the Air Force jazz band presented an excellent program.

Finding herself the center of attention, Mrs. Vaughn enjoys hearing Gator, another soloist from the air force jazz band, direct the song "I'm Easy" toward her.

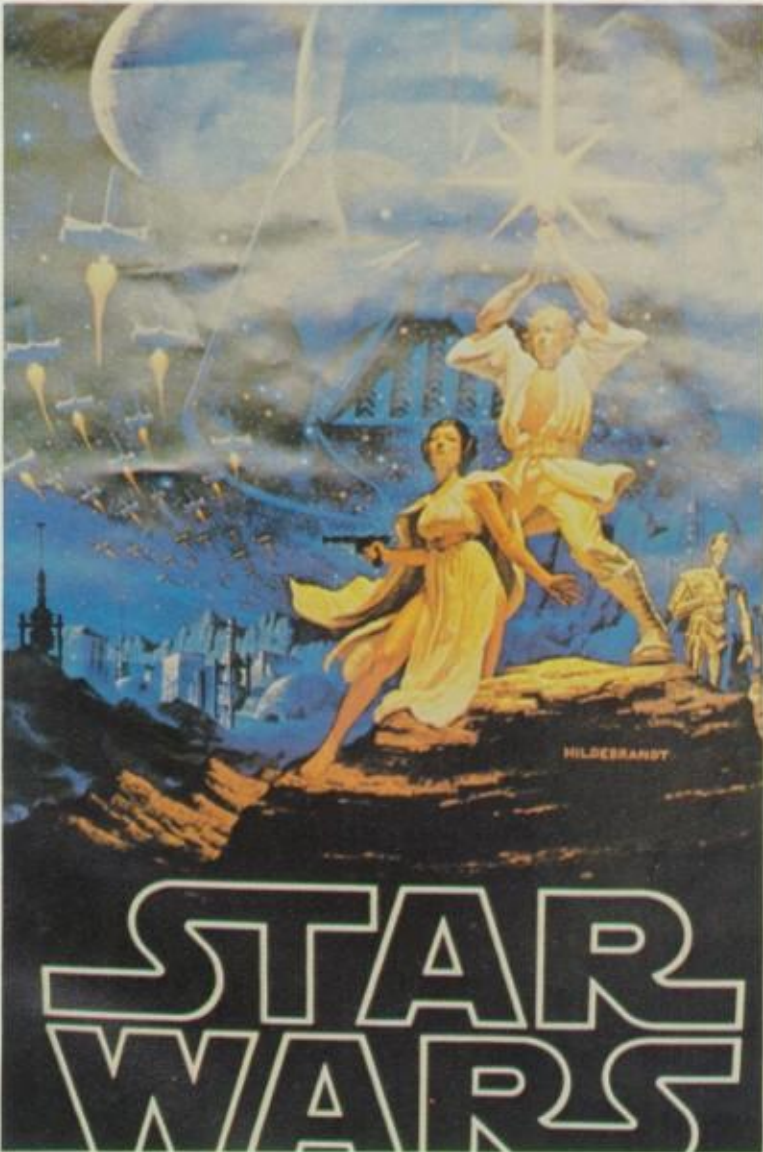

Singing the song "Feelings", the Air Force jazz soloist captures the attention of the student body.

During this number, the band features the saxophone section.

Students react by joining in as the soloist sings "I'm Easy".

Breaking the monotony of lunch, the juke box became a symbol of students and faculty working together to provide a musical background and a good digestion.

Proving to be the most popular film of the year, "Star Wars" won over audiences everywhere.

After receiving a bum token the blaring juke box became broken.

New books in our library provide more reading entertainment.

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT OUR WAY

members of the wedding party pose for a picture.

The happy couple, Steve Blackwell and Candy Smith march down the aisle after saying their vows to each other.

Yummy! This is the part of the wedding everyone enjoys. Eating wedding cake!

Anyone that came to observe the Band Festival could not help but notice the gusty winds that prevailed throughout the day. Although the wind made itself a nuisance by blowing hats, music, and hair about, the bands kept their composure.

Bystanders listened to the sound of music in the air as they watched the band members march in unison. As the crowd watched and made their own decisions about performances, other eyes were watching in a more critical way. Guest judges carefully graded each band on appearance as well as performance. Before each band reached the field, it had already been inspected by these judges.

Each of the thirty-three bands received some type of rating in their particular division.

Beginning the Band Festivities, Mr. Harris, Mrs. Allison, Dr. Nelson, and Mr. Primm await the signal to cut the ribbon.

Member from the Cummings High School Band proudly displays the trophy received for winning a number one in the Class A division.

Before competition in their division, bands find time to "warm up" in the band room.

Performing at the end of the morning competition, then again at the end of the evening competition the "Western High School Marching Band" presents a vivacious show.

Squinting as he ponders, the marine judge takes a critical view of each band that competes in the Festival.

THIRTY-THREE BANDS AT THE SHINDIG

Did you notice that things were not the same around school this year? No more of what "used to be". EVERYTHING IS BETTER. Our Cheerleaders were number one in the County, the Band received a division one in Bristol, the Girls' Volleyball team finished with a great season and Warrior Football started off strong.

We, the members of the We-Hi-Wa staff welcome these changes because they are all improvements that are making the student body proud of the school they represent.

The yearbook is also an important part of the school year and when changes for the better need to be made the yearbook staff tries to keep an open mind. We have heard a lot of talk both for and against summer delivery.

Since the yearbook is for the students, we hope we were able to please everyone by having our annuals delivered in the spring and a sixteen page supplement delivered in the summer. The supplement included very important events that took place after the last deadline was made for spring delivery.

*Sincerely,
Patti Whitesell
Cathy Horne*

Getting instructions from the coach, the girls volleyball team prepares for an important game.

With determined effort Sherman Patrick gains precious yardage against Eastern Alamance.

The flute section, in full-dress regalia, add their support to the total band show.

GIRLS MODEL FOR BELKS' FALL FASHION SHOW

Emphasizing the need of warm clothes for a cold winter, Amy Watson models an outfit consisting of pants, cowl neck sweater, V-neck sweater, and coordinating jacket.

Jumpsuits remain popular, and both Candy Smith and Tammy Payne model two versions made of corduroy.

Sleepwear also needs special attention in a wardrobe. Here, Charlene Gilliam models a matching robe and nightgown set.

For casual attire Delisa Cobb and Christie Barker model corduroy jeans topped with blouson shirts.

TEACHER ROUND-UP

The driving force behind our school is a concerned and understanding person who is willing to help whenever he sees the need, always adding a personal touch even when the disruptive student is unknown to him. His main concern is not always school discipline as one can see his active participation in all school activities as well as numerous community projects. When not at school, he enjoys playing golf, riding a bicycle, and racket-jawing on the C.B. He is always loyal and dedicated to everything he does. Mr. Primm, our principal, has made our school what it is today.

Pride and dedication are reflected as Mr. Primm writes a letter in his office.

Most of us know her as the chemistry teacher with the "bionic arm", writing with her right hand and erasing with her left. Whether the lesson is about molecular mass formulas or metric conversion there is little time for daydreaming. With a blink of the eye, the board becomes filled with definitions and decimals.

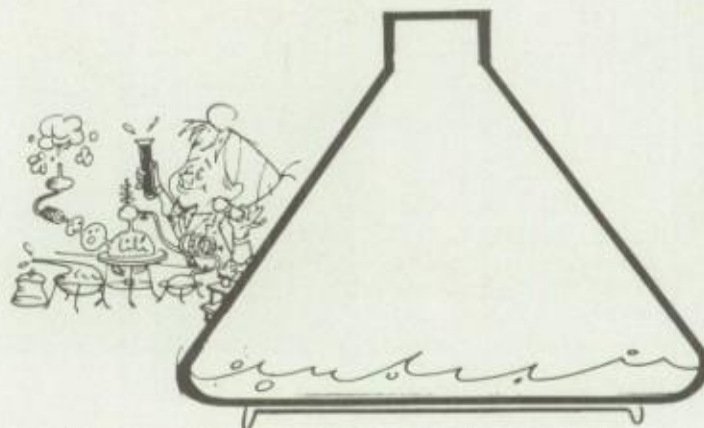

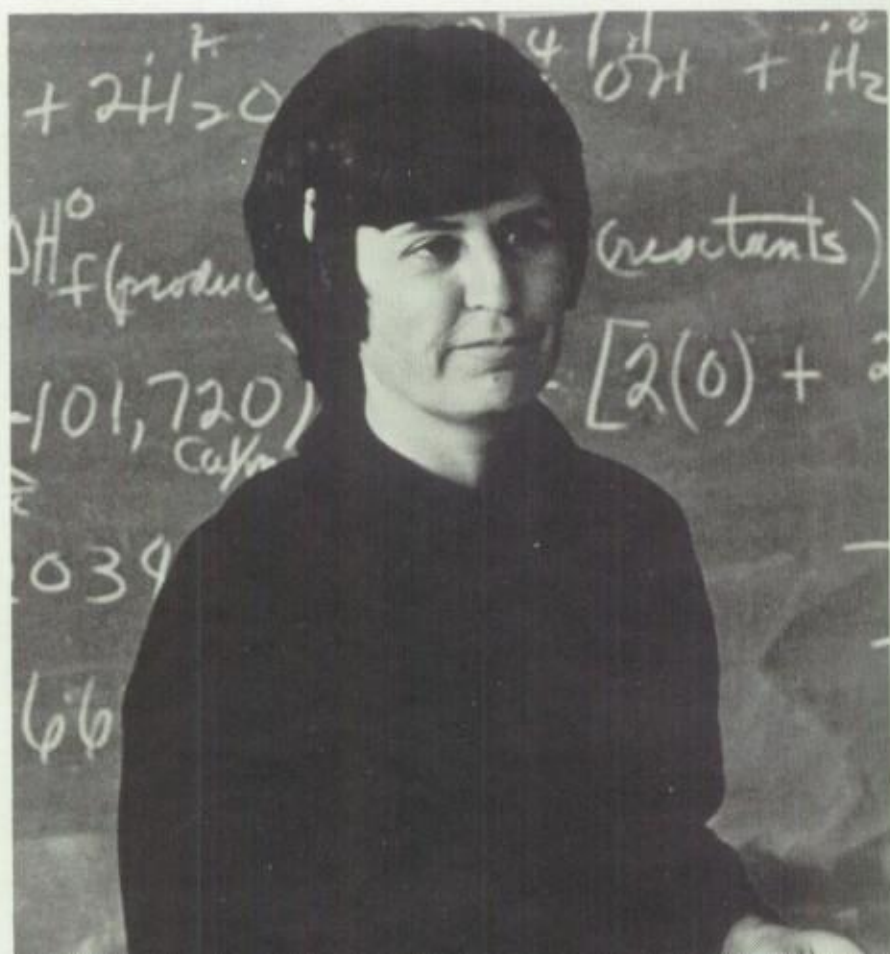

Yet, there is more to this lady than what is experienced in the classroom. She is, and has been for many years, the force behind both Junior Varsity and Varsity Cheerleaders, and has helped make them the award winners that they are. Her school spirit is reflected by her attendance at ball games and through her assistance in various other school activities. She assists the Homecoming Court with their preparation; and she helps the Junior Marshals in Graduation exercises. She always seems to find time out of her busy schedule as wife, mother, and teacher to support the school and students in any way she finds beneficial. Her dedication and determination are the qualities that set Betty Reynolds apart from all other teachers.

Susan Benolken and Susan Hoke find that Mrs. Reynold's assistance is needed to complete their experiment in Advanced Chemistry.

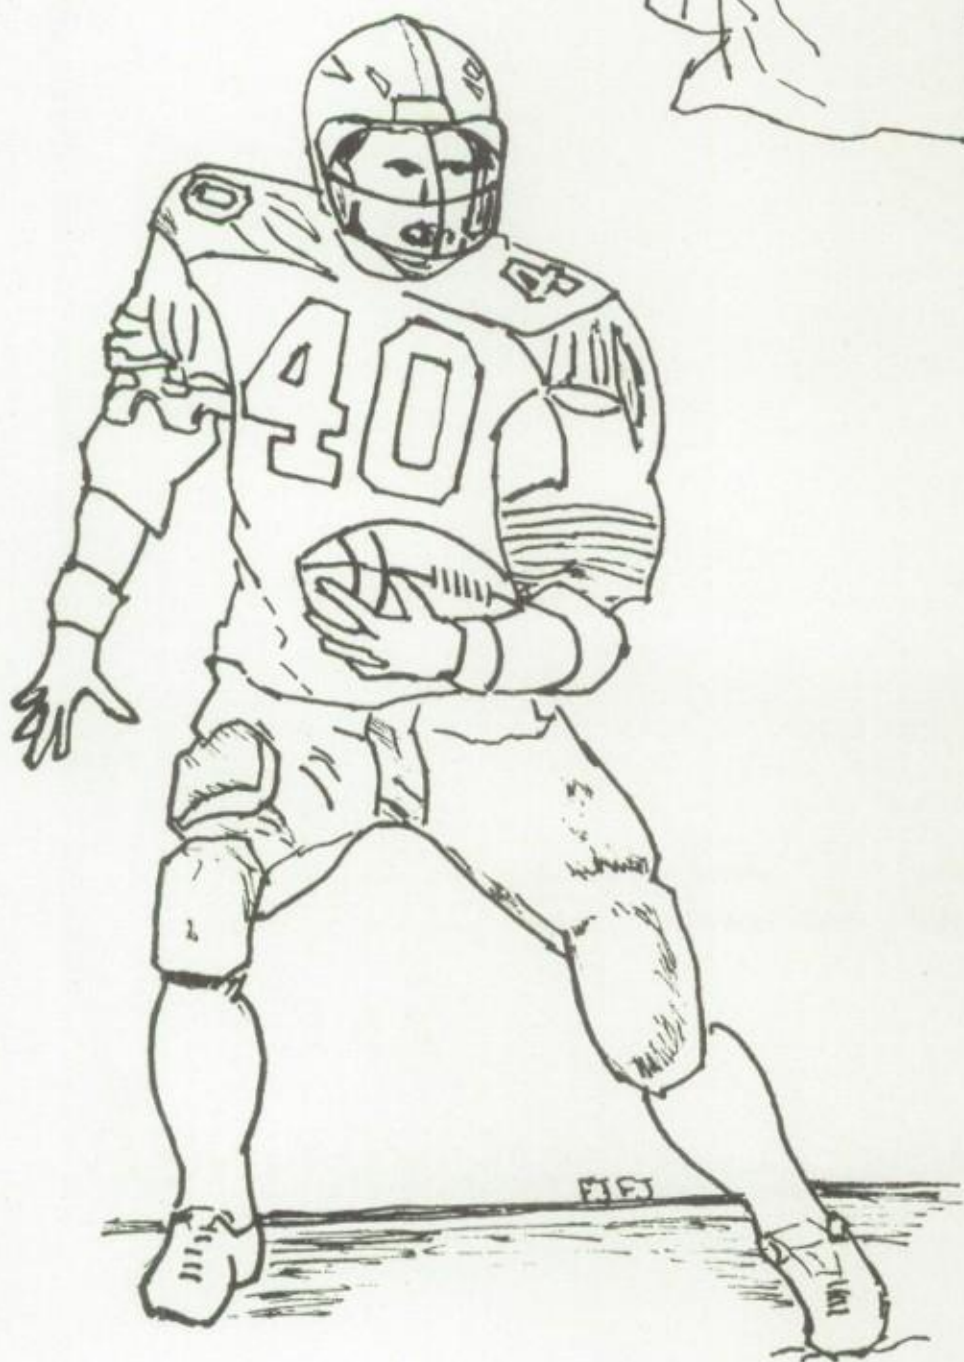

Standing in front of the chalk board filled with formulas and equations, Mrs. Reynolds addresses the class.

TO MAKE A BETTER WESTERN

Open discussion proves well for the Student Council members.

Waiting for the meeting to come to order, representatives discuss different topics.

Veronica Leath is sworn in as corresponding secretary.

EXCHANGETTES . . .

A number of the girls pose in their club sweatshirt.

. . . the name stands for an exchange of ideas, an exchange of thoughts and an exchange of friendships. An assortment of freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors make up the club with all members participating to their fullest. The Exchangettes are, therefore, an active group. They have painted banners for football games, held fund raising bakesales and have made gifts for the elderly. The girls have helped at the band festival and have taken the opportunity to visit each other's churches. Banded together they are a growing group, participating in both social and community projects.

Sarah Steltzer, Regina Sullivan, Beverly Hensley and Angie Taylor paint banners for the Homecoming game.

President Robin Pattishall and Chelsea Troxler pay careful attention at a meeting.

Exchangettes make Thanksgiving decorations for the elderly.

Refreshments are always welcomed by Karen Henderson, Jackie Wagnor and Terry Loyd.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club is a select group of French students under the direction of Mr. Perry. This year's president was Darlene King. Dale Johnson held the office of vice president, Jean Hamlett was secretary, Cathy Horne acted as treasurer and Steve Blackwell as Sergeant-at-Arms.

In the fall, the French club held a yard and bake sale, which helped to raise money for a camping trip. Some of the members went to Julian Price state park in Boone. The club also went ice-skating a number of times. An annual activity is to make and present Christmas stockings to a local school. The club did not break it's yearly tradition.

This is where it all begins, studying French in Mr. Perry's class.

A year of change was brought to the Annual Staff this year. After having summer delivery for two years, the Annual Staff has moved back to Spring delivery. This may seem to be the perfect solution to everyone's problem, but it entailed a lot of extra work for the staff. They worked many nights until one or two in the morning and many weekends were given up in order to meet their deadlines. In spite of all, they feel that they chose the right solution and hope that this will be the best annual ever!

Sorting pictures is one duty of Annual Staff members as demonstrated by C. Horne and P. Whitesell.

K. Horne and K. Stallings get assistance from Mrs. Sadler concerning data on students.

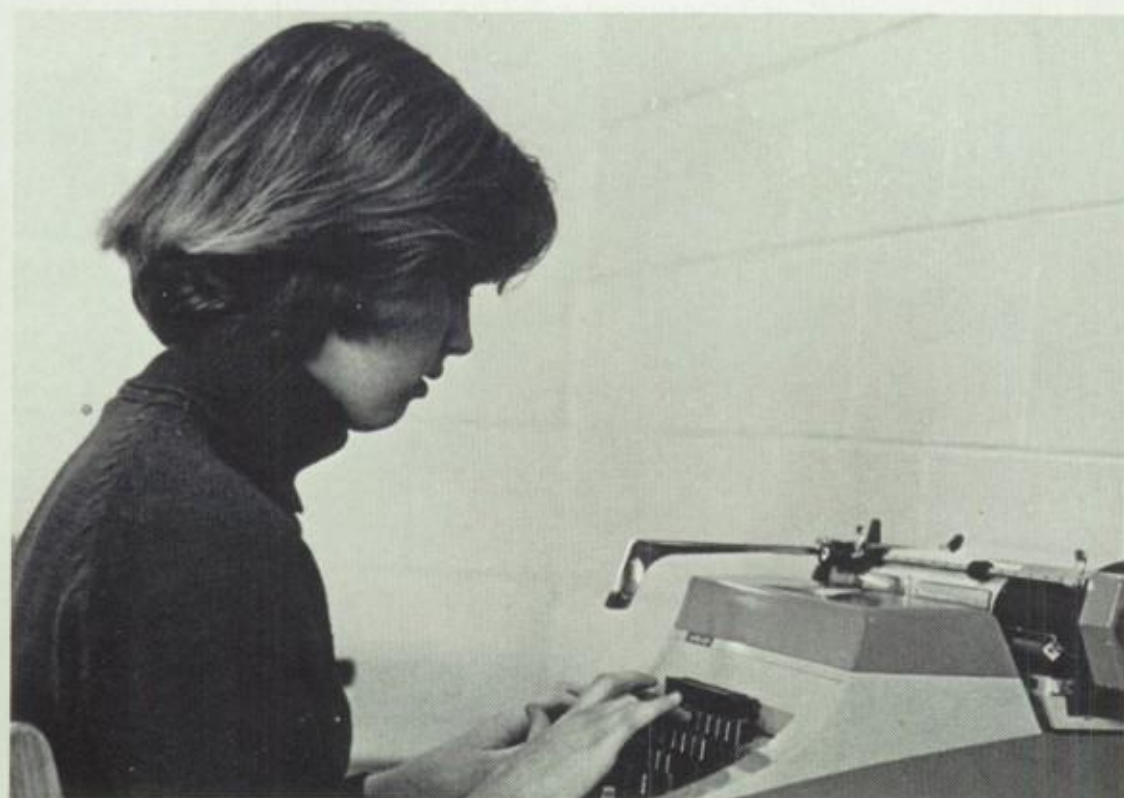

In the difficult task of writing captions, Don Isley and Frank Fuller decide two heads are better than one.

WORKING TOGETHER TO

WEST SIDE STORY

In order to meet deadlines, Lisa Howe finds that hurried typing is a must.

Interviewing Mrs. Baines is only part of F. Zang's jobs.

No one ever said writing a newspaper would be an easy job and it's not! The Newspaper Staff captures the news well and puts out an excellent paper. Many hours are spent on the paper and there are usually five per year. The Staff attends a journalism workshop sponsored by the Greensboro Youth Council and they hold their own workshops during the school year. The entire student body thanks the staff for all their hard work.

KEEP YOU INFORMED

Overcome with happiness, Sandra Liggins was presented flowers when elected President of FSA in March.

"Official Hamcutter" was the title given to Tammy Rippy and Rhonda Madren.

Business seminars are part of the activities that FSA members Sandra Liggins and Gail Freeland attend.

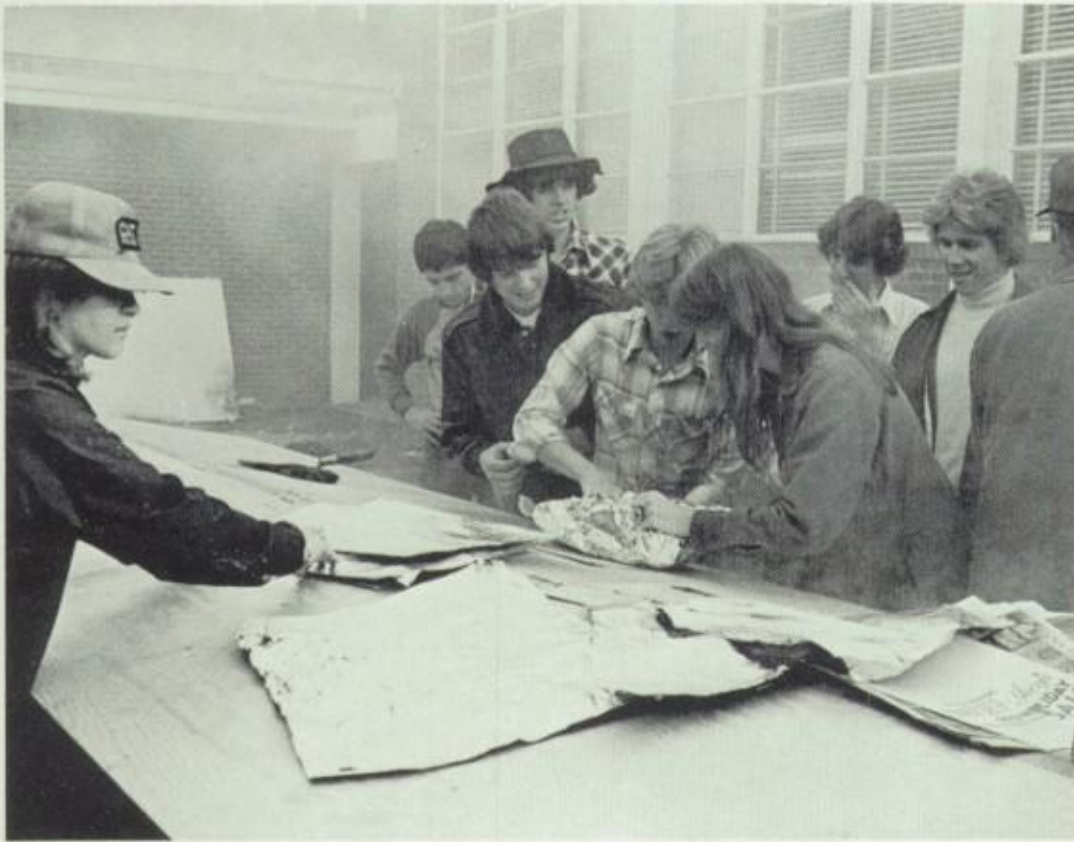

It seems as though Vicki Garrison and Claudette Lassiter get stuck with the hard job, popping open the biscuit cans.

BEING A FSA MEMBER MEANS MORE THAN TYPING AND SHORTHAND

The Future Farmers of America have a goal of raising $1,000 per year to be used for the purchase of equipment such as fishing tackle, archery, and shop equipment. With this money, they also financed conservation projects. These projects consist of wood duck boxes, squirrel boxes and bluebird boxes and they hope to build a nature trail across from Western High. To achieve this goal, the students and their advisor have about four barbeques per year. The unity of the group and their willingness to work have brought honor and recognition from Wildlife Magazine, local television programs, and Mr. Busick received the Governor's Award, Conservationist of the Year. Thanks for a job well done.

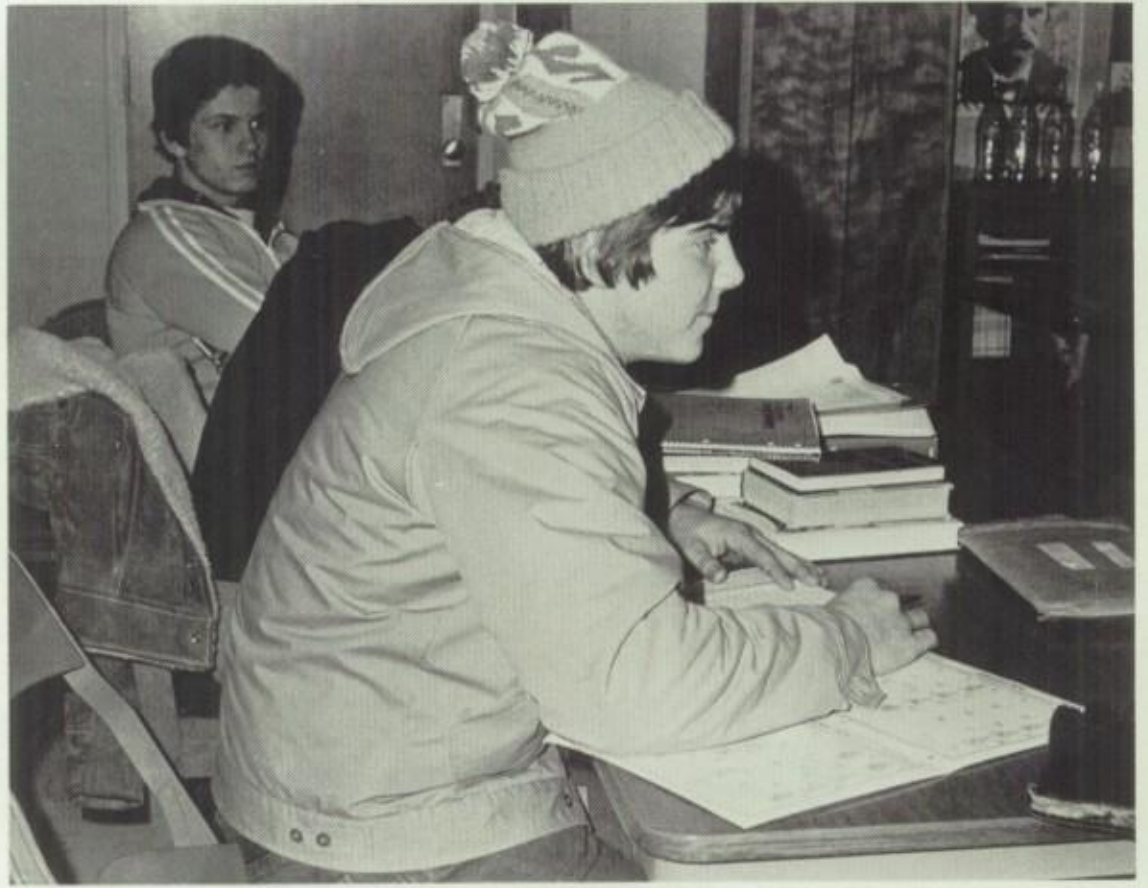

Everyone lends a helping hand to make the Bar-B-Que a success.

Cleaning out the pits is the "pits" for Mr. Busick!

CIVITANS AND

The Civitan Club is one of much importance to our school and our community. They participate in various activities. Some of them are; "Give and Egg", collecting for Heart Fund, helping with the Band Festival and clothes collection for the needy. To raise money, they sell fruitcakes and hold yard sales. They also attend church as a group once a month and also serve as fire marshals in our school.

Planning the years' activities are one of the activities talked about at their monthly meetings.

At a Civitan meeting, members discuss the club's plans for February.

Collecting money for dues and sale of fruitcakes is the job of Treasurer M. Howe.

"Yes" seems to be the answer to helping at the recent Dance-A-Thon.

CIVINETTES LOSE

The Civinette Club is one that tries to become "Builders of Good Citizenship." The club participated in many activities such as making a Homecoming float, attending the Duke-Clemson game together with a dinner and district meeting after the game. They also helped collect for the Heart Fund and sponsored Spirit Week. They served their sponsoring Civitan Club and helped with publicity for the Dance-A-Thon. Another service was attending different members church with the Civitans. The club also remembered Keith Harris with a birthday present and Todd Holland by placing flowers on his church altar in his memory during the month of December.

New Business sends P. Forbis to Mrs. White and Miss McGhee for approval.

Part of being a Civinette is having monthly meetings as displayed in this picture.

GRAPPLERS

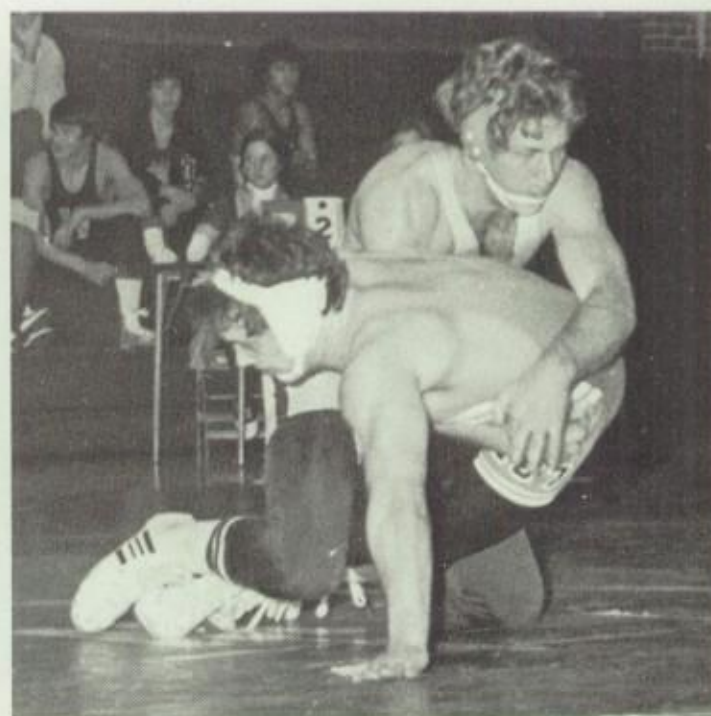

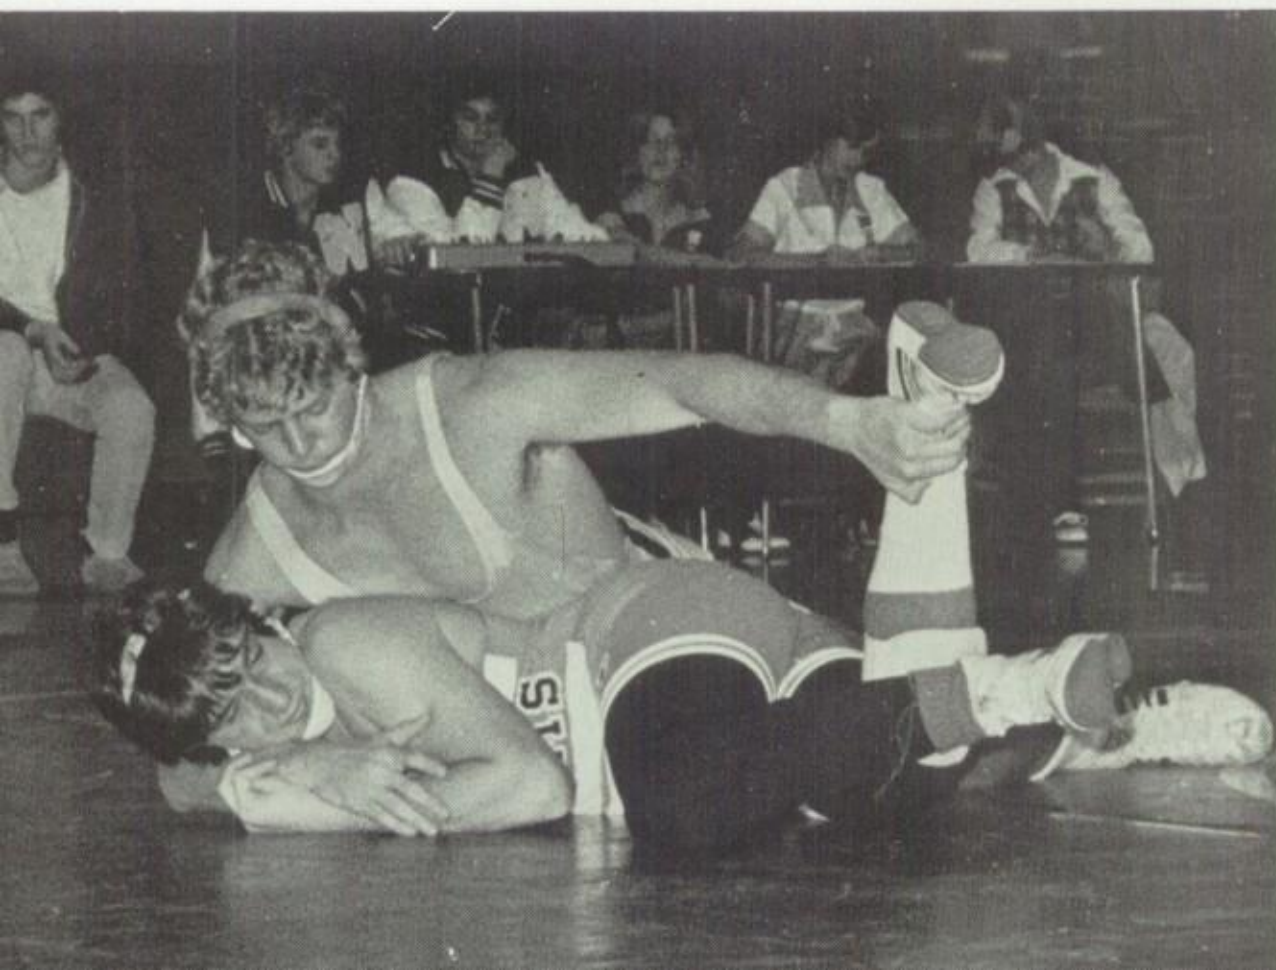

Ronnie Murray is ready to move against his opponent proving familiar warrior agility.

This year's Grapplers entered into action with all the viciousness of past years. They were taking each team one by one and tearing them apart.

The team had very high potentials and their goal was to reach their potential. If they could accomplish this, it would be very hard for anyone to defeat them. Under the powerful coaching of Danny Barnett, the team set out to make a name for themselves. The team had plenty of experience as seniors Ronnie Murray, Doug Walker, Dexter Barbee, Steve Blackwell and Allen Boone led the way. The team did make that name and the school spirit they showed was uncanny. We are as proud of their accomplishments as they were.

THEY SET A GOAL . . . AND STRIVED TO ACHIEVE IT.

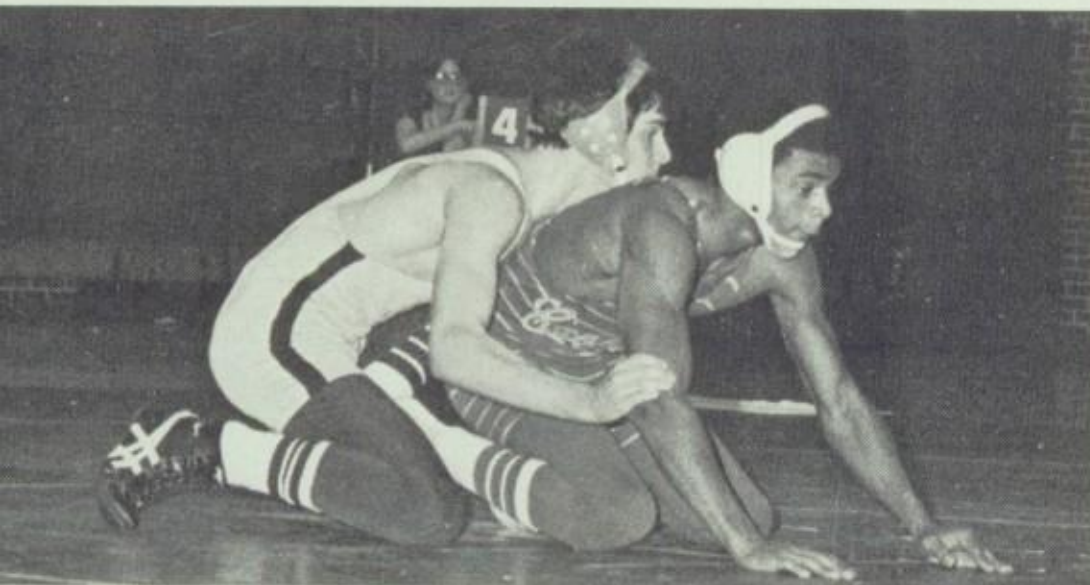

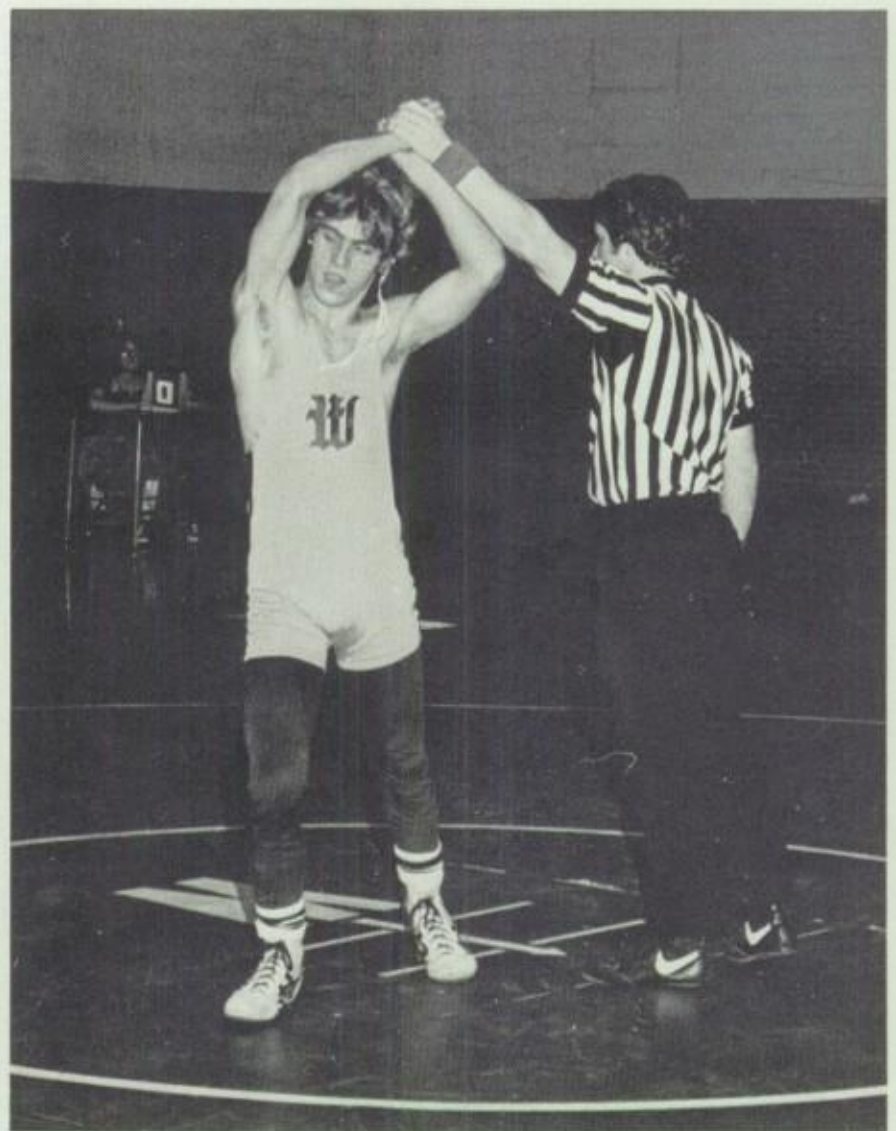

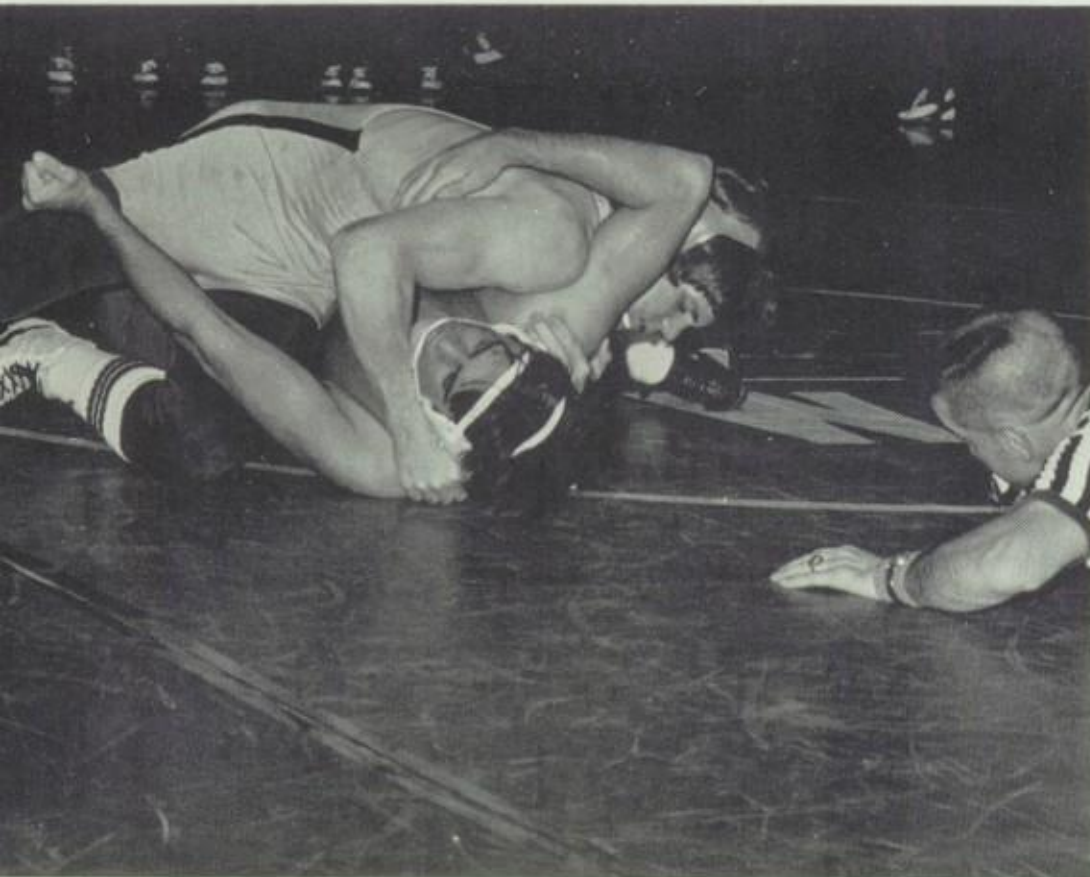

Doug Walker with one mighty warrior heave, breaks his man down to the mat.

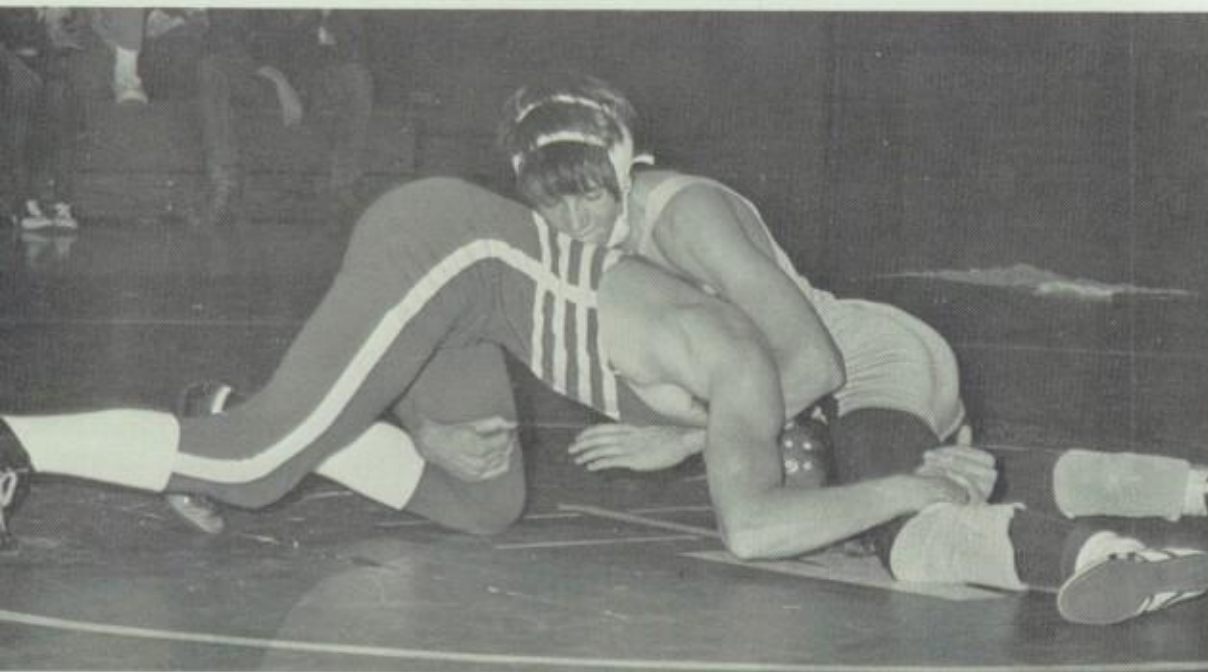

Clint York applies moves collecting points as he dominates his man.

This position spells victory for David Day and his warrior teammates.

Steve Blackwell brings his opponent around closer to a pronounced pin.

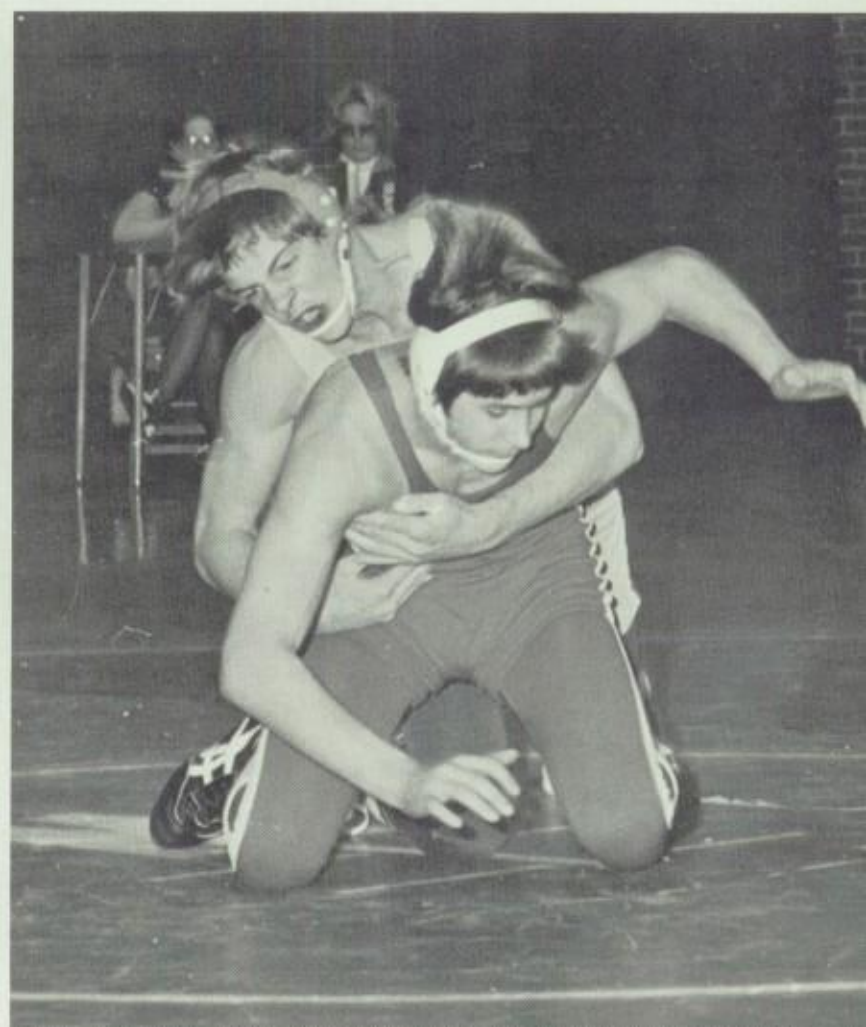

GRAPPLERS PROVE THEIR DOMINANCE

John Musser uses his wrestling knowledge to control his opponent.

Anguish is shown in the face of Danny Todd as he strives for an ultimate pin.

Monty Allison remains alert and confident in the referee position.

The approaching season faced the Warriors with several new situations. Coach Garrison had one of the tallest teams that he has had in several years, but his team also was weak in experience. The only thing to do was to start from scratch, but the young team did have enough desire and hustle to make up for their weakness. They also had one quality that no one could take away. They wanted to be the best. At the first of the season they picked up the nickname of "The Cardiac Kids" because they had a lot of games that were won or lost in the final seconds of the game or either in the last minutes of overtime. No matter what the score or how much time was left in the game, they were still hustling. This young inexperienced team eventually matured into an earnest group of young men who deserved a lot of credit for all their long hours of dedicated practice and devotion to their sport. We thank them.

Coach Garrison and coach Tolley discuss a new strategy they hope will baffle the other team.

The "Cardiac Kids"

Dwarn Jones jumps high and concentrates totally on the goal to make a successful shot.

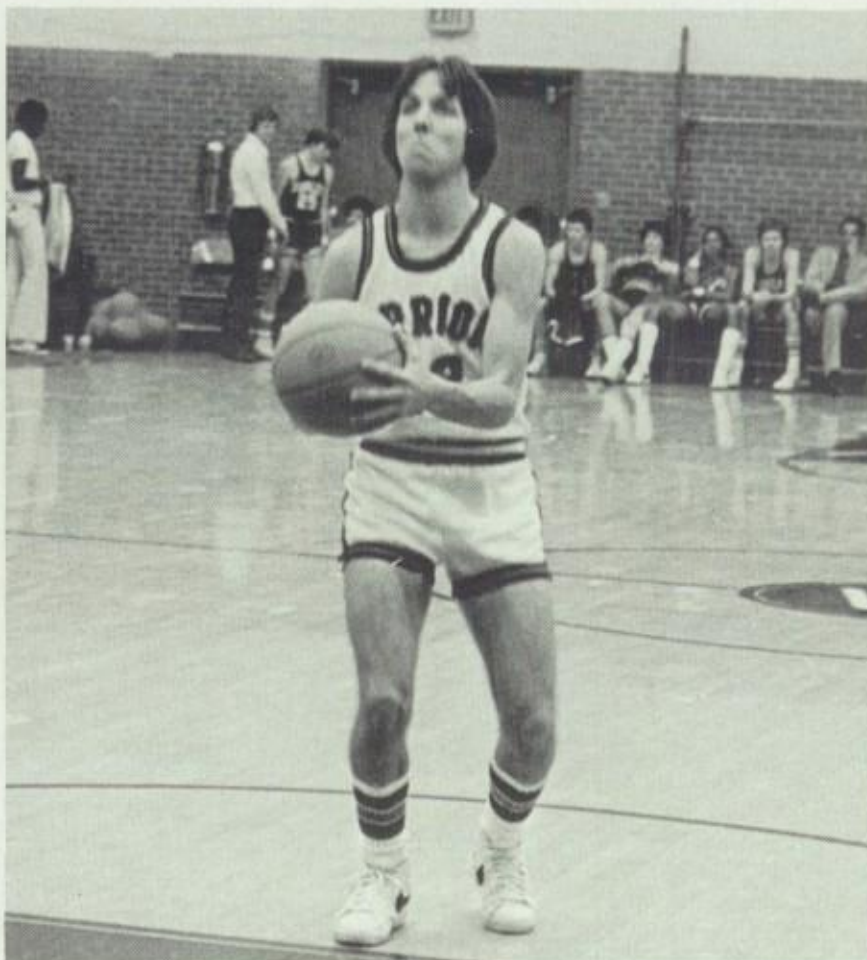

Steve Vargus sets a good play for Terry Cheek as he leads toward the goal for an easy two points.

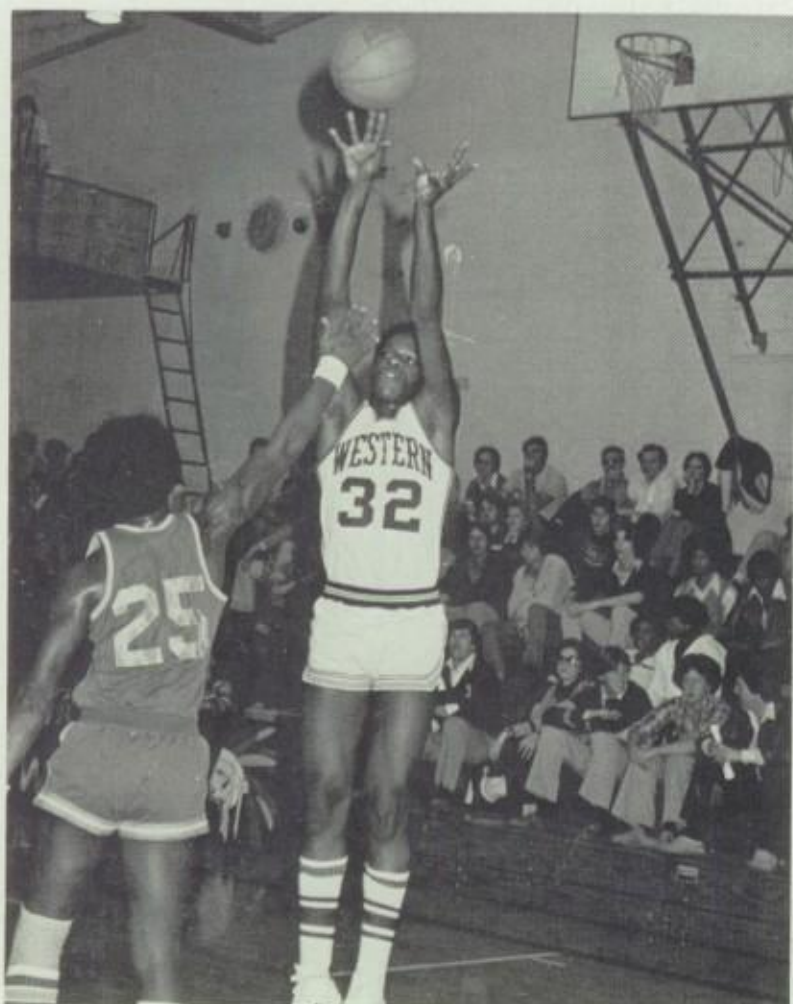

It's a bird, a plane, no it's Steve Vargus as he leaps over everyone on a fast break for a lay-up.

Total concentration is the key as Barry Swain prepares to sink an important foul shot.

fight till the END

Open in the corner Ricky Richmond goes up for two points showing good form in his follow through.

Steve Garrison uses all his power to reach for the ball as the game begins with great velocity.

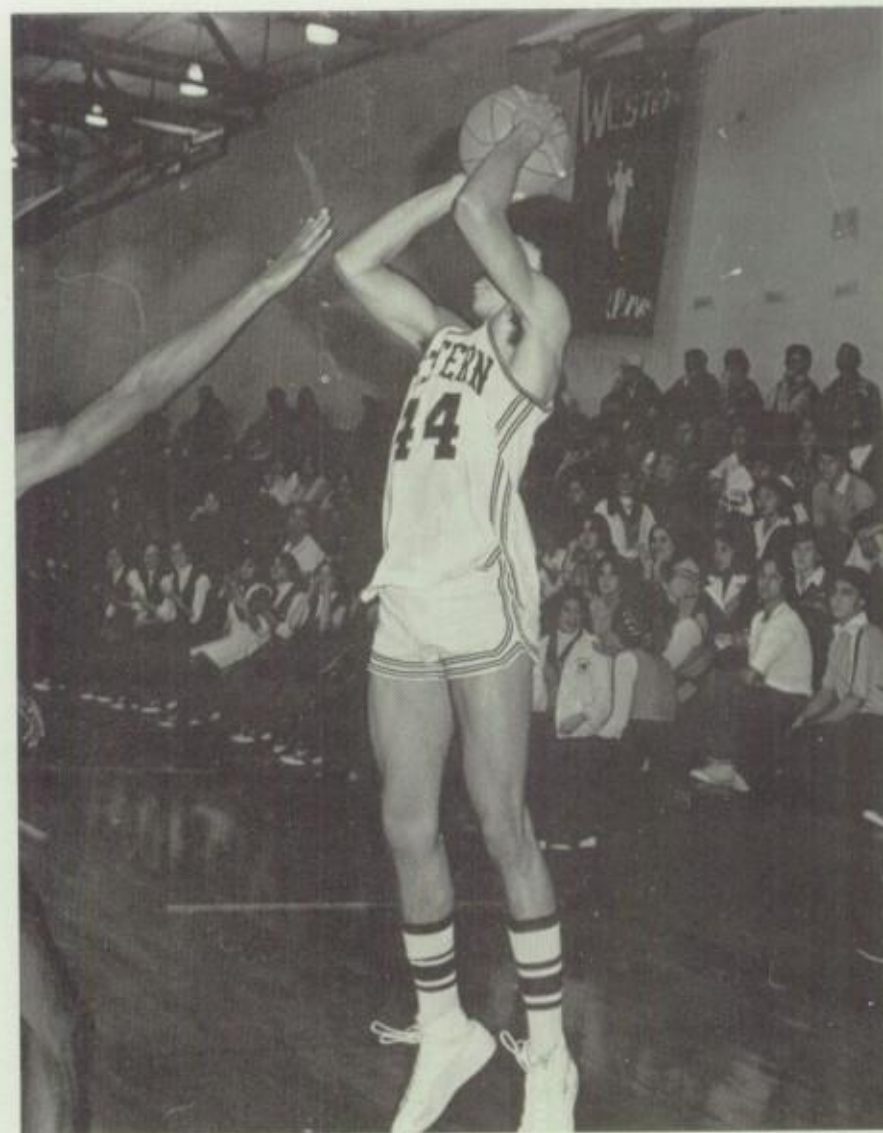

Scott Gasque goes high over an Eastern opponent and gets two points for the young Warriors.

JV'S SHOW THEIR STRENGTH!

Anthony Turner shows his style as he shoots from the corner.

Harold Stone breaks away and heads toward the goal for an easy lay-up.

Cindy Shoe slows down the pace by holding the ball against Eastern Guilford.

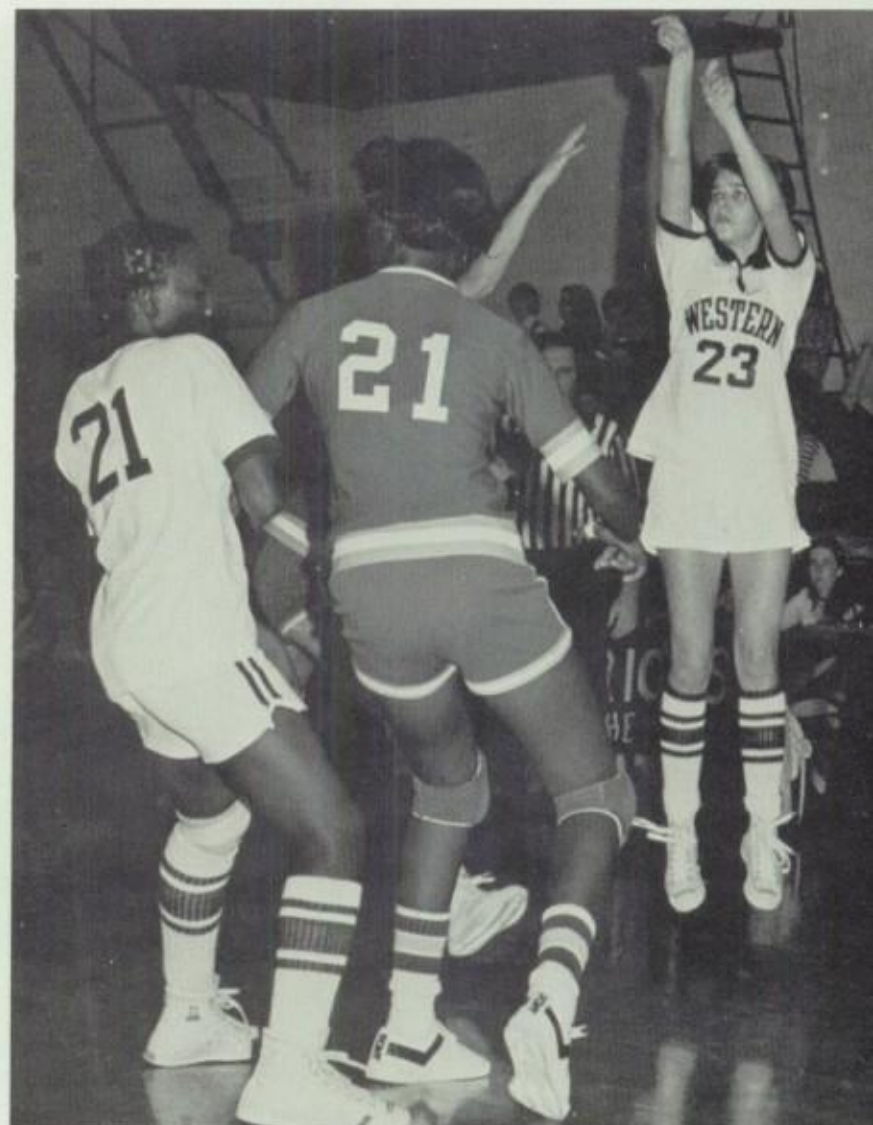

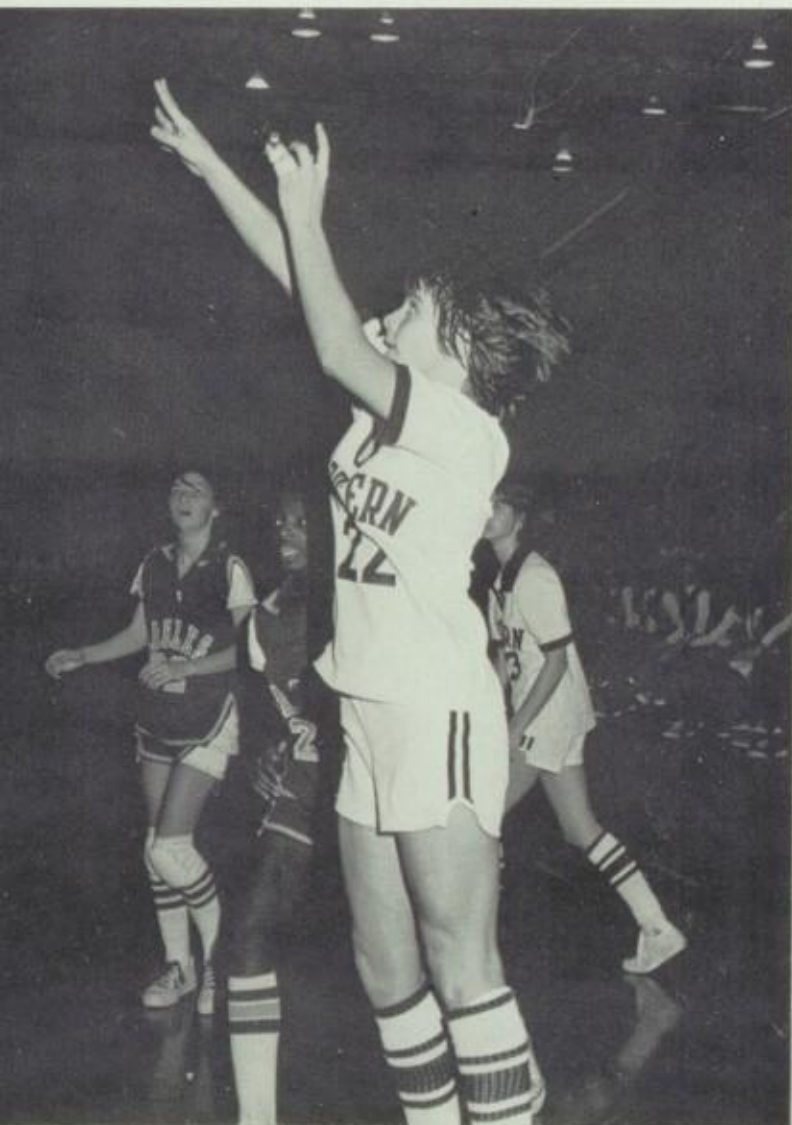

Cissy Gasque shows good form as she goes up for two points against Jordan Matthews.

JV CHEERLEADERS JUMP AT THE CHANCE TO SHOW THEIR SPIRIT

JV Cheerleaders show we are "Number One" with an outstanding stunt-cheer.

What comes to mind when you hear the phrase J.V. Cheerleaders? Most people think of a lot of girls walking around in their cheerleader suits with pretty legs and cute faces. That is true, but that is not all that is required of a J.V. Cheerleader. It takes practice, time, passing grades, energy, enthusiasm to cheer on our teams, and presence at every game. This year our J.V. Cheerleaders have put forth a great effort to have all of the above. A few of their extra activities were: attending a cheerleading camp last summer, helping the Varsity squad sponsor the homecoming dance, and attending the Graham Christmas Parade.

Head JV Cheerleader, P. Rippy, shows her spirit with a huskey jump.

S. Walker, Co-Head of JV Cheerleaders, does a "stick jump" for the basketball players.

GRAPPELLETES LEND A

What are Grappelletes? Are they a group of girls who wrestle other Grappelletes? No? Then why do people continue to ask them whom they are wrestling or what their weight category is? If they do not wrestle, then why do they attend all the matches? The Grappelletes show their support for the wrestlers by cheering for them, bringing refreshments at every match, keeping score and recording all statistics. In other words, Grappelletes dedicate their Monday and Thursday nights to cheering the wrestlers on to victory. Being a Grappellette is not all work; they had fun as they participated in the Graham Christmas Parade.

Keeping up with statistics, J. Pattishall and J. Freeman never miss a trick.

GRAPPELLETES — FIRST ROW: C. Horne, Secretary, P. Aldridge, Vice-President; J. Freeman, President; T. Perkins; D. Williams, Treasurer; M. Brown. SECOND ROW: D. Allred; L. Lowe; E. Updyke; G. Evans; J. Pattishall.

Grappelletes were always there to cheer wrestlers on to victory.

DESIRE + SPIRIT + HARDWORK

STEPPING STONES

FOR THE "WARRIORS"

As the football season approached, the Warriors were working hard in 90 degree weather preparing for a new season. There was a different atmosphere around the dedicated practices of the high-spirited players. This atmosphere was created by a new head coach trying to get associated with different styles and attitudes of the team. The new coach was Harry Jennings, a native and former coach at Elkin, N. C. where he had built a winning reputation and he made it perfectly clear that he did not want to lose it here. Before the Warriors were to end up with a winning season, they had to face a lot of trying situations, but they stuck together through these difficult times and came out victorious. The season opened on August 29 in a game against Eastern Guilford. That night the Warriors convinced a number of people of their ability and strength. Mark Carter and Steve Vargas put on a great performance and led their team mates to a 28-0 victory. This winning streak continued through four straight games until the fifth game ended in a sudden unexpected loss. About this time in the season, injuries plagued the Warriors and several important men were lost for the rest of the season and at the same time the team met tougher competitors. The team never gave up even though they struggled through the next four games unsuccessfully but fighting hard. All was not lost; the team pulled themselves together for a final two victories and ended with a 6-4 winning season.

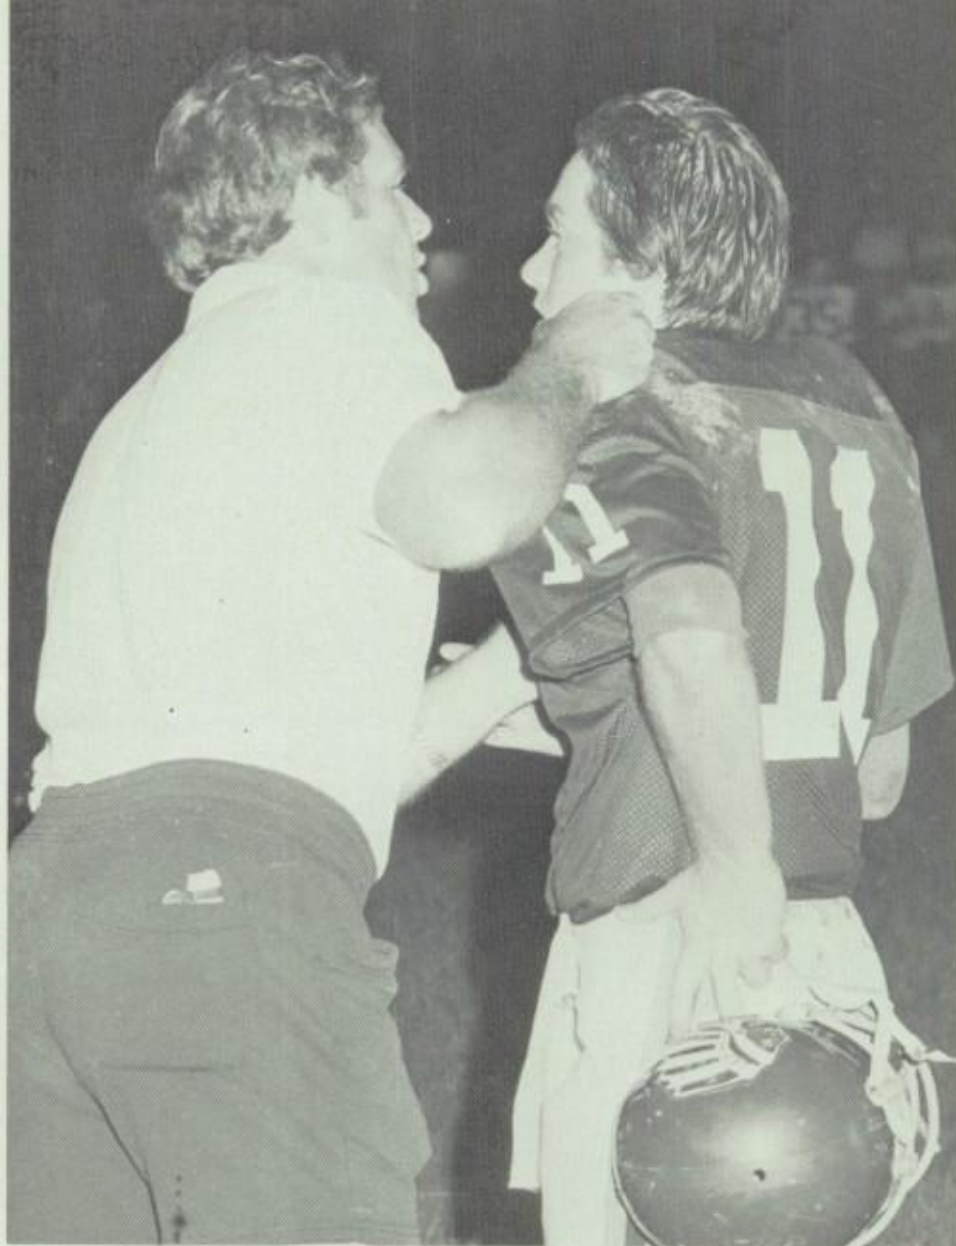

The Three Stooges? Not quite. Tommy Taylor, Harold Hill and Clint York take a breather after a long scoring drive.

Wallace Slade finds a big hole as he turns the corner for several yards.

Mark Carter gets last minute instructions from Coach Jennings before guiding the Warriors downfield.

Mark Carter pitches out to Sherman Patrick in one of his usual long gainers.

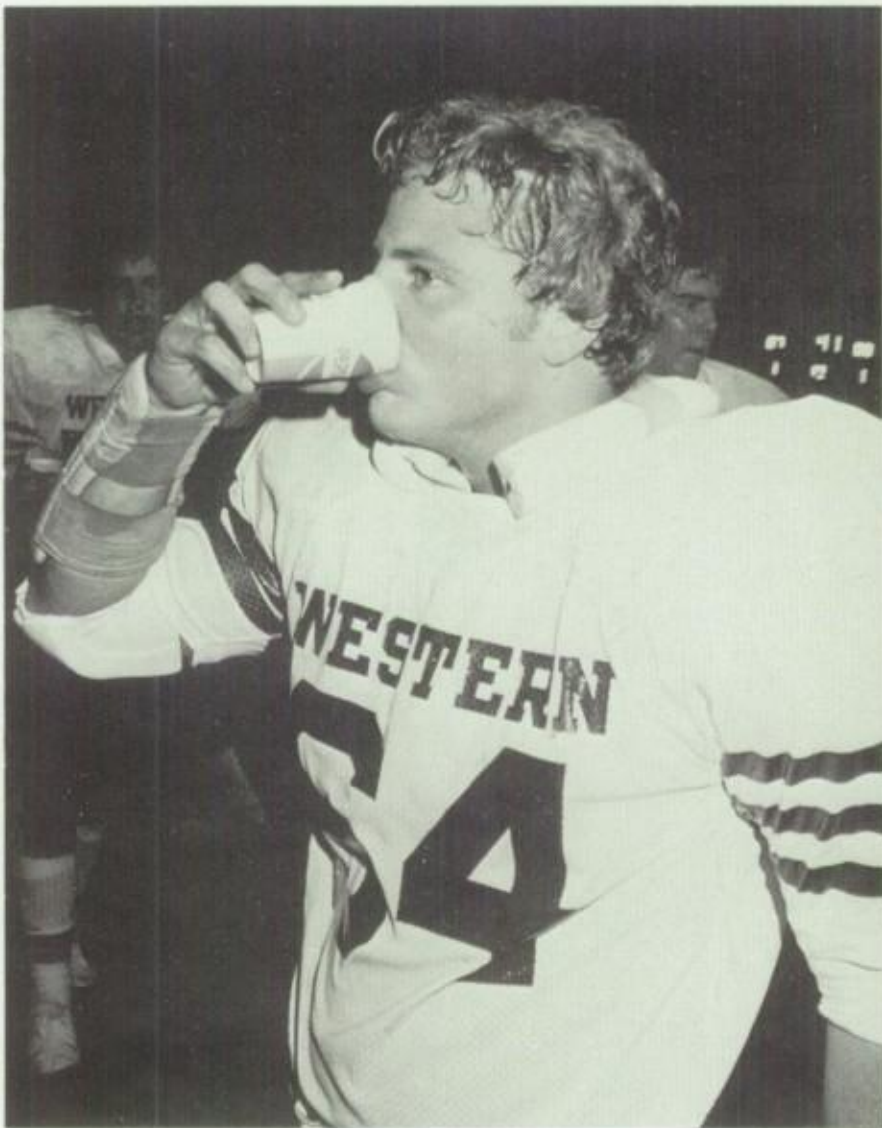

A DEFINITE POWERHOUSE

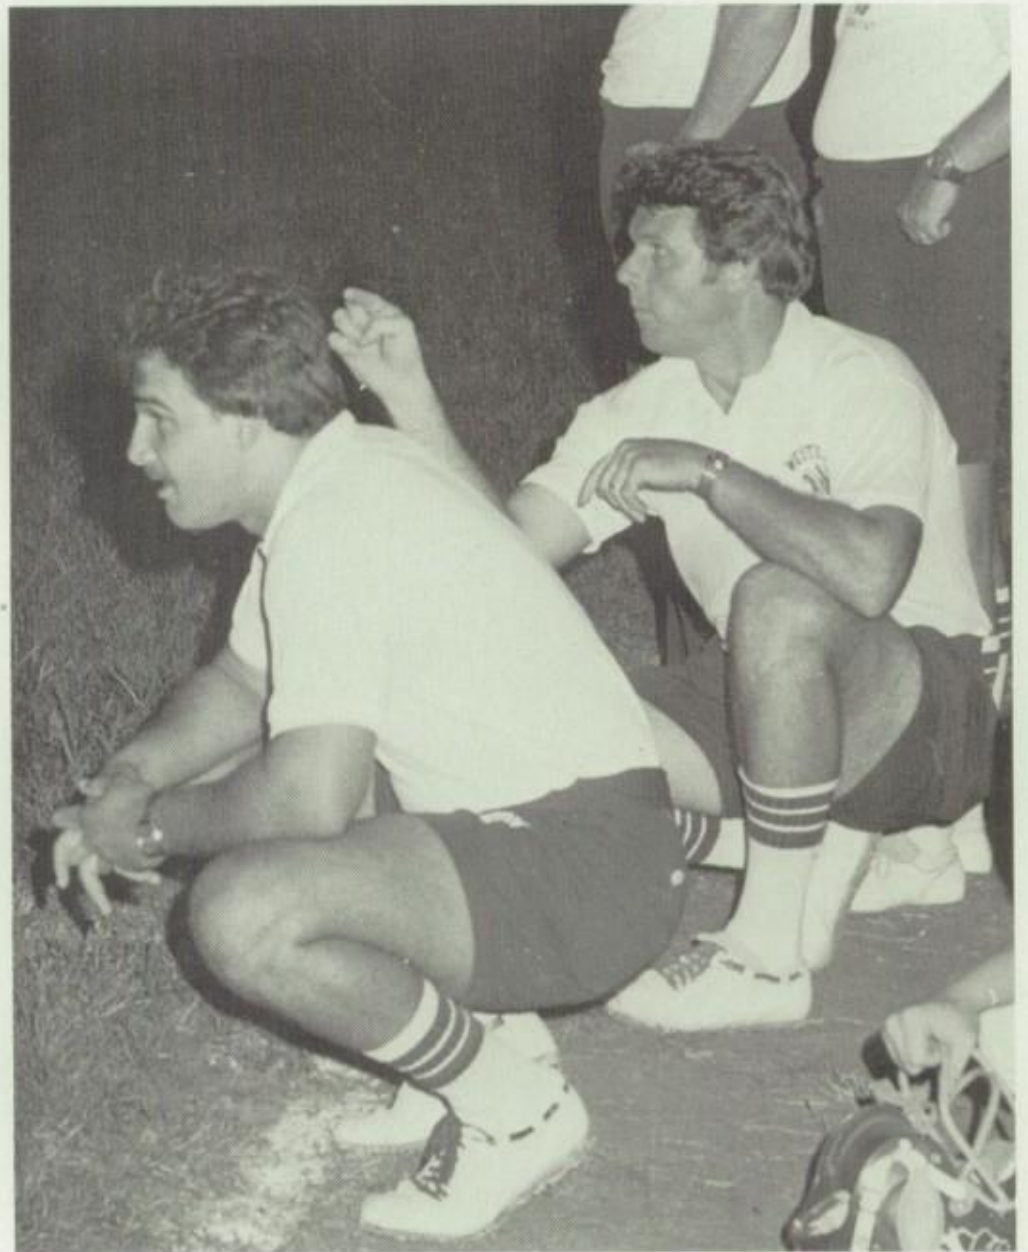

Mike Byrd uses his agility and speed in his outstanding performance at the Homecoming game against Eastern Randolph.

Sherman Patrick scores one of his many touchdowns as Ronnie Murray, Steve Blackwell and Keith Tomerlin help to lead the way against Bartlett-Yancey.

Clint York takes advantage of his chance to refresh himself before going back to action.

Coaches Harry Jennings and Stan Butler call the defensive signals from the sidelines as the "Warriors" halt another drive.

Chris Roberts, Ronnie Murray, and Craig Huffman watch intently as the referee spots the ball just short of a first down.

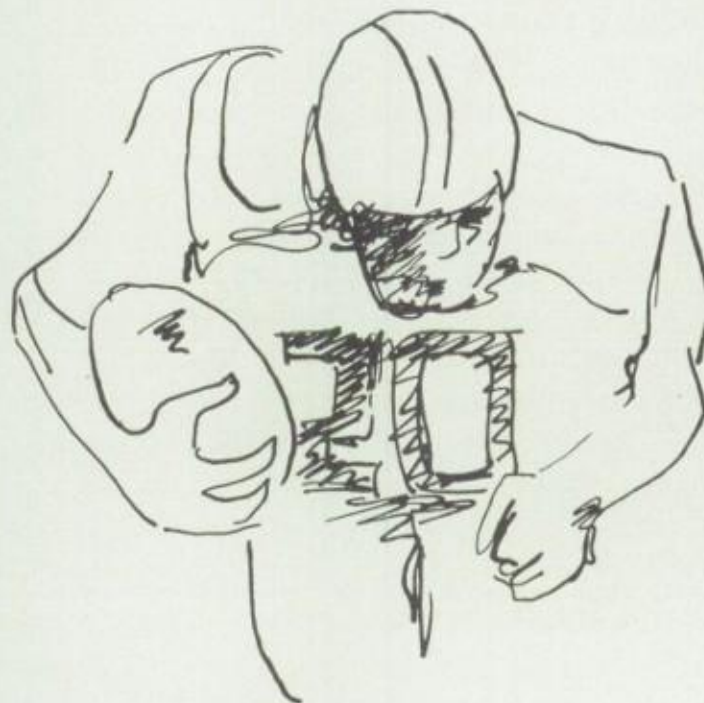

Mark Carter picks up another first down and more after a crucial third down call.

READY OR NOT HERE WE COME!

The "Wild Bunch"! The Warriors prepare themselves before traveling to an important game.

Danny Howard congratulates Sherman Patrick after another one of Sherman's outstanding runs.

Gary Whitesell, David Day, and Scott Dill celebrate on the sideline after a tough defensive stand.

J.V.'S ARE HARD-NOSED

Memories of last year's conference championship still lingered in the minds of players and coaches as they faced the realization of a new season. With a number of players moving up to varsity and young inexperienced freshmen taking their places, the task of forming a strong team was difficult. Under the tremendous coaching of Ricky Smith and Ned Poole, the young team would put together the best of their skills and abilities against their strong opponents. The team struggled through a long, and difficult season, but never gave up until the final buzzer in the last game. Their record of 3-6-1 was not a good representative of the desire and talent of this team, but in years to come, perhaps these factors will play a bigger role for these players. They have a lot to be proud of.

Danny Todd leaps over Southern defenders using his stamina and balance to stay on his feet.

Danny Todd gets good protection and is able to escape several Southern defenders.

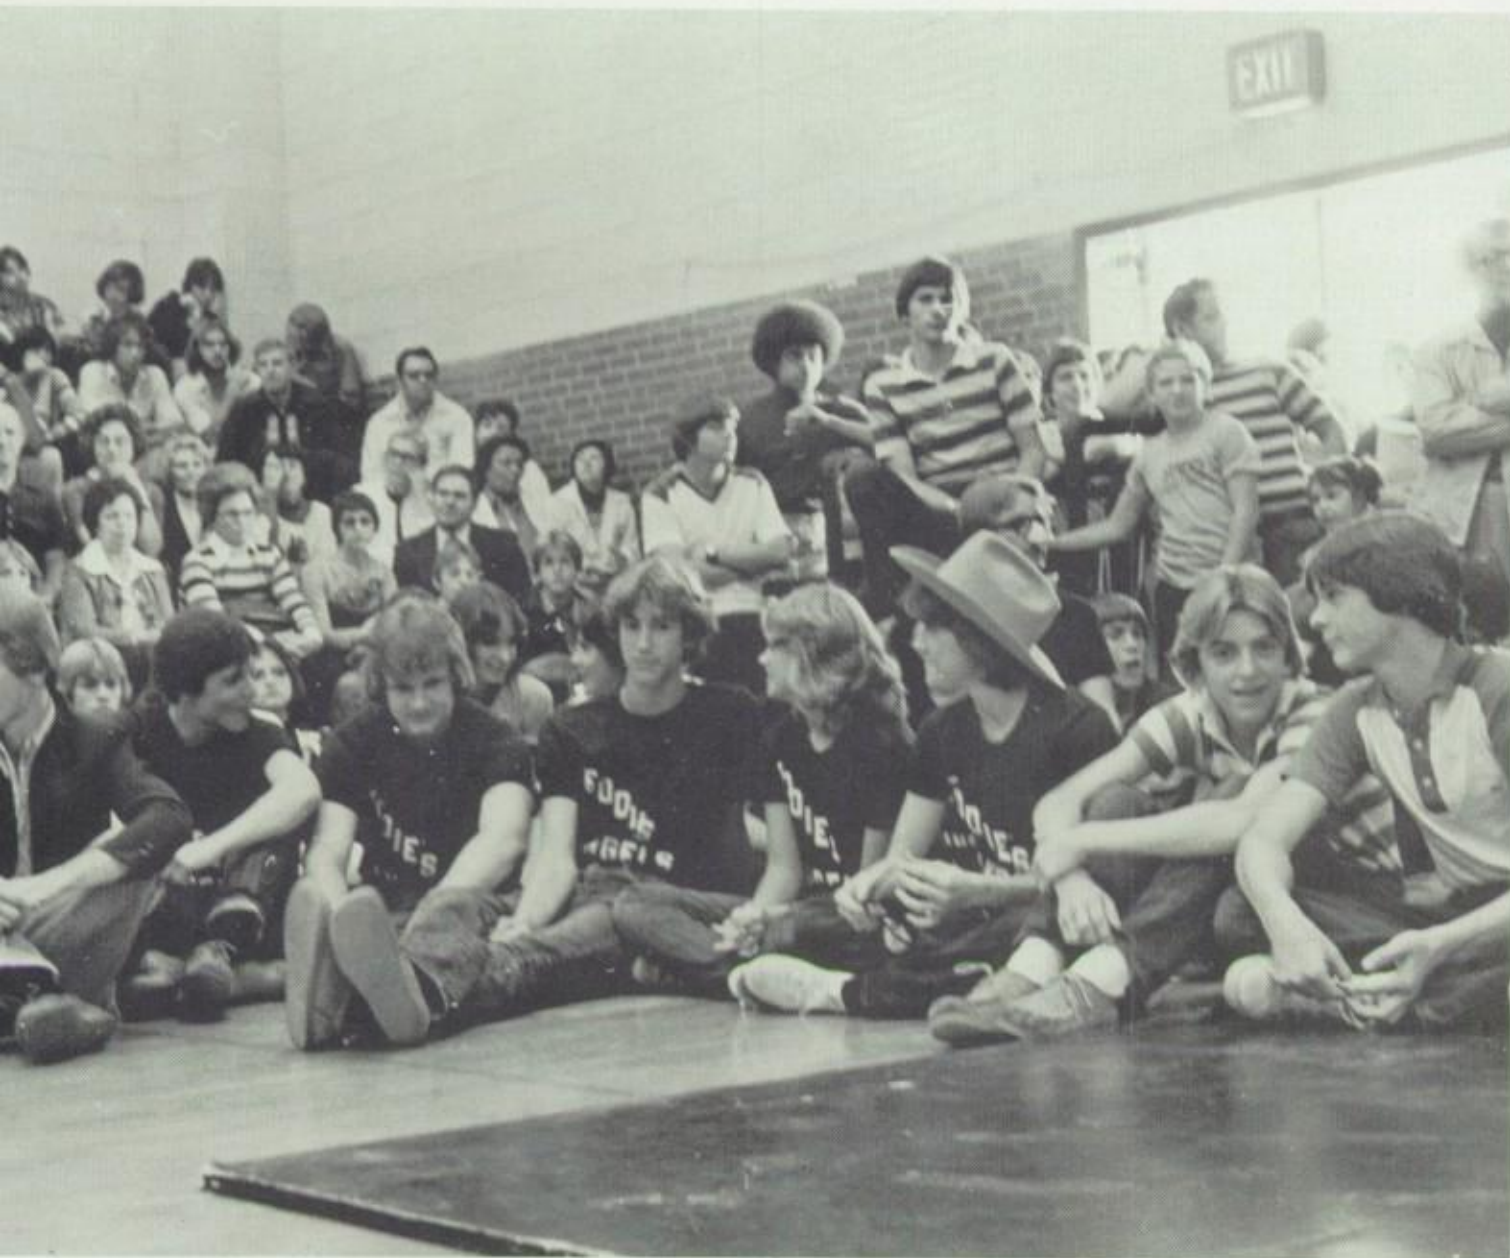

THE DRIVE TO WIN!

An unidentified Warrior sheds his jersey but does not quit trying for extra yardage.

Kip Foster and Ray Wade take a well deserved break as Mitzi Renigar hands the water bottle.

Playing the part of the maid, Sandy Gregory screams, "Take that mouse away!!"

Dracula. Just the word puts chills in one's heart. Pictures of old castles, mysterious murders, and strange happenings flash through the mind.

After months of dedication and hard work, the Harlequinns produced a show worthy of any Hollywood horror.

The opening night was a great blow to Mrs. Westafer and her dramatic crew. After a successful first act, a prominent actor, Tony Dickerson, became suddenly ill and could not continue. These accomplished actors did not let this damper their high spirits. The Harlequinns simply set a new opening night for the following evening.

On Saturday night, all those hours of hard work recieved a resounding reward . . . AP-PLAUSE!!!!

Watch out Lucy! Pat Hanner plays Dracula, while unsuspecting Lucy is portrayed by Jan Pickard.

"Do you fools think that you can stop me???", cries Dracula. (Pat Hanner)

CHRISTMAS IS SHARING . . .

And that is exactly what "Operation Snowflake" did. The student body takes pride in showing Appreciation to the custodial staff for their part in keeping buildings warm and the campus clean. Instead of buying food and dry goods this year, money was given by each homeroom and divided among Roy Harvey, Mandy Brown, Sandy Griffis, Ed Harvey and Mary Ann Covington. Ed was spokes man for the group and expressed the gratitude of this special "family" group to the students. "Operation Snowflake" is an activity sponsored by VICA and DECA clubs.

CHORAL

Being a Chorus member is more than just singing one's heart out. Long hours are dedicated by serious minded students to prepare for the many concerts to come. But the long hours of constant practicing were worth it this year. Each member was rewarded when he saw the many superior awards presented to the chorus. Being in the chorus is not "all work — no play". The fun part is attending the many contests. One of the highlights the chorus experienced was their trip to Six Flags Over Georgia in April where they participated in another contest. They also participated in the Peace College Soloist and Ensemble Contest, not to mention the Regional Choral Contest in March at Williams High School. The students at Western enjoyed the Christmas Concert presented by the Chorus. Yes, being a choral member calls for both dedication and long hours, but, it is worth it!

BLAZING A TRAIL

Yes, we have come a long way! Parking between two bushes with the policemen spying to see if we will run up on the curb is not my idea of progress. Although the town of Elon has taken on a new face with all the gardening and designing, another problem arises. What will the people who do not know how to parallel park do? Run up on the curb? No, they will probably end up parking a mile down the road, but at least they can enjoy the new shrubbery. For those interested in moving to a well developed neighborhood, try Westwood or Deerfield. Did you see what they did to Main Street in Burlington? They have moved the dragsters out and replaced them with a outdoor mall.

Company Shops Mall has really perked up the businesses around Burlington. Sellars Department Store has added a new expansion and remodeled the old part of the store. There are more parking spaces due to the new parking lots. Zack's is now in a modern building on the same street, but on a different corner. Grandad's World provides the shopper with a indoor mall uptown. Paramount is no longer a movie theater but has become the theater for the Gallery Players. Downtown Burlington is still progressing as are the many other developments around town. Burlington is not getting older — it's getting better!

A reality sign is good advertisement for a brand new house in one of Western's neighboring developments.

Now we have our own Pizza Hut in the Western district.

INTO THE FUTURE

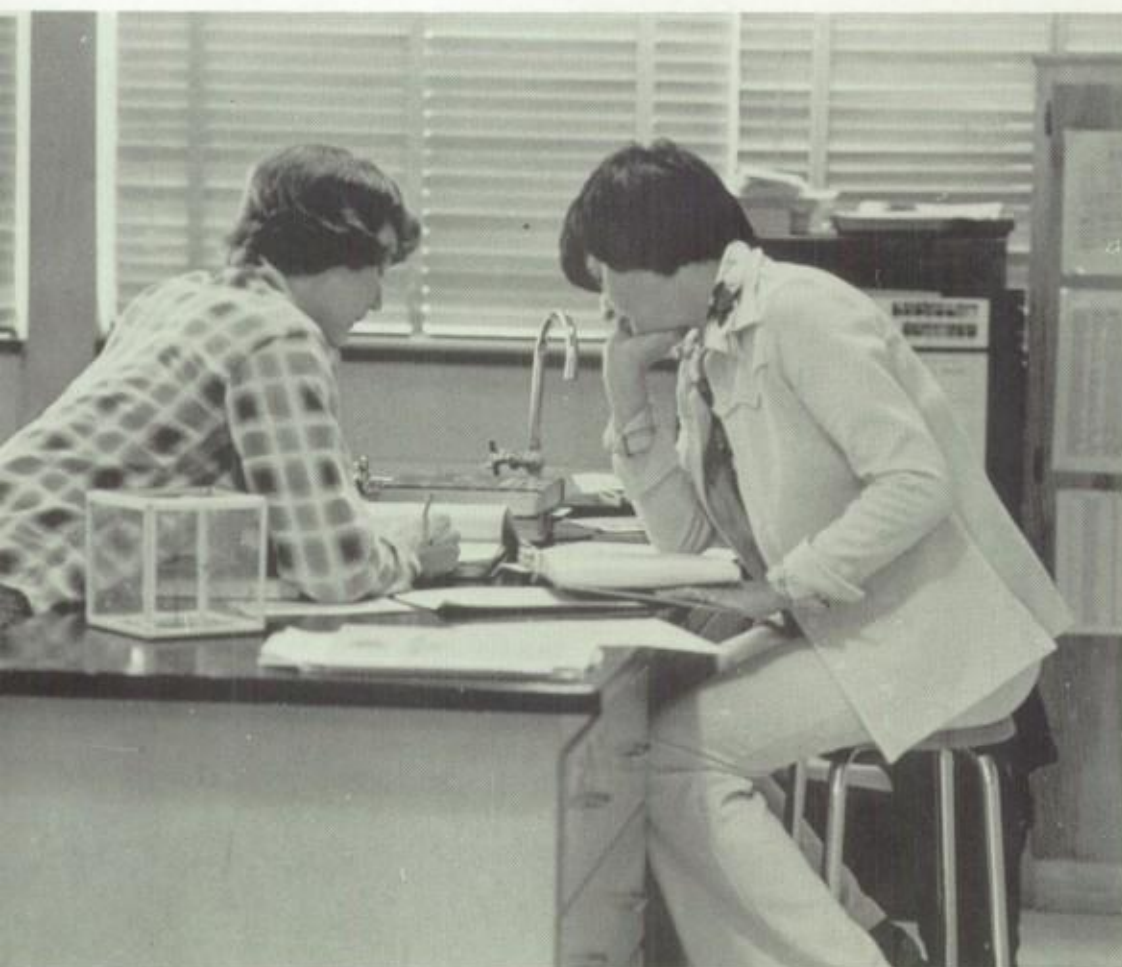

Our own Elon College takes on a new look as men repave the sidewalks.

Meetings in the hallway are frequent before the homeroom bell.

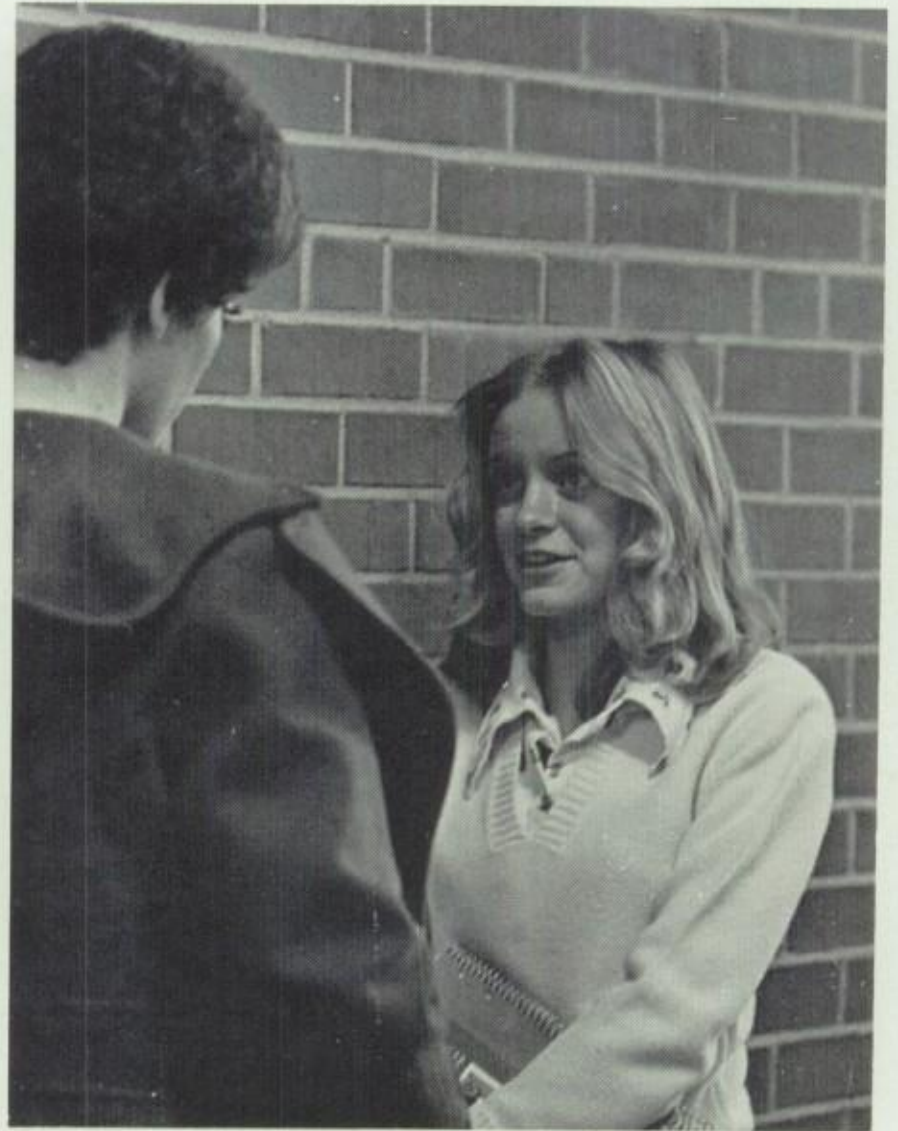

In the parking lot students stop to talk before heading towards their homeroom.

WHERE THE BEFORE THE TEACHERS

After the bell students hurry to their homerooms.

A chord is struck on the piano as the underclassmen slowly rise. Proud seniors march regally to their seats. It's assembly time, again! This year we had more assemblies than ever. A major reason for this was the great drive and persistence by Susan Holke for more school gatherings.

We started off the school year with the Air Force Band. Other musical assemblies, held by Damascus Road, Elon Emanons, Electric Funk and our own band kept our feet tapping. The Drama players tempted us with an act from Dracula. Albert Long, a representative from Happenings, Inc., told us all about the lettersweater and it's affect on his life. A special type of assembly was held in early October. North Carolina State University sent two professors from the college. They gave an exciting program concerning Chemistry. The many pep rallies helped to pull school spirit together to promote our teams. Assemblies sure can spice up a day!

Albert Long speaks to a captivative audience.

Volkswagen Beetle — super fun that doesn't cost too much.

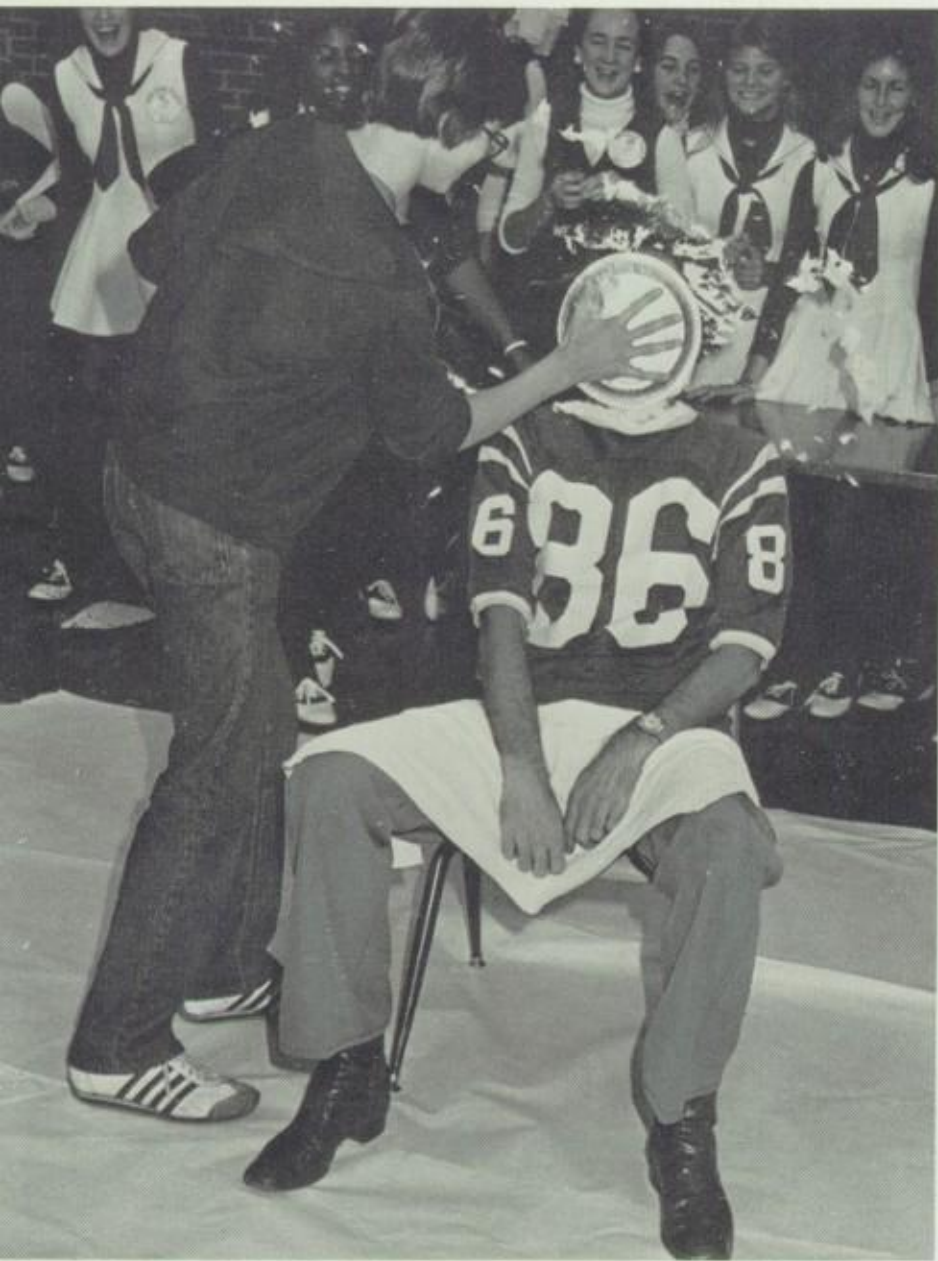

The reward for the Student Body's tremendous success in the magazine sale that excelled the $20,000 dollar mark was the opportunity to see Mr. Primm, Mr. Rayfield and Ms. Sadler have pies thrown in their faces. As an extra bonus, a "banana joke" was played on Ms. Sadler that (when it was over) left her blushing and the Student Body laughing.

On another occasion, when the Senior Class won a contest for collecting the most money and parent representation for the PTSA, the President, Amy Kivett and Vice President, Cissy Gasque, also received pies in their faces.
